CURRENCY BILL TO THE HOUSE

Democratic Caucus Measure is Now on Its Way to Enactment.

LENGTHY REPORT ACCOMPANIES IT

Committee Discusses the Bill in Analysis of Its Provisions.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The administration currency reform bill as approved by the democartic caucus, was reported to the house today from the committee on banking and currency, by Chairman Glass.

A voluminous report, including a lengthy technical discussion of the theory of the bill, accompanied the measure, setting forth the views of the democrats on the committee. Representative Hays, of California, presented a report from the republicans, criticising the measure and proposing various

MAY BE A GREAT TRACTION STRIKE

Nearly 600 Car Men in the City of Indianapolis Have Organized.

NOW DISCUSSING WAR

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 9.—After a delegate unwittingly had declared at a meeting of the Central labor union last night that 550 street car motormen and conductors in Indianapolis have been organized under a local of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, that body went into a closed session at midnight which, it was learned this afternoon was devoted to a discussion of the desirability of a street car strike at this time.

The organization discussed the recent interurban strike, which proved ineffective for lack of organization, the present strike of interurban linemen and the strike of motion picture operators; then voted to demand impeachment of Superintendent of Police Hilland for alleged unfairness to striking motion picture operators and for discrimination in making arrests during the interurban strike agitation.

MAY ABANDON ARBITRATION.

Salt Lake City Utah, Sept. 9.—Delegates to the thirteenth biennial convention of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America, which is in session here, who favor the abandonment of arbitration as a means of settling their disputes, will be met with much strong opposition when the matter is taken up, which was to be at one o'clock of today's session.

President W. D. Mahon in his report has recommended that the street car men keep to arbitration and said that they more than any other class of workers needed public sentiment with them in adjustment of their troubles. There is a strong sentiment, however, among some of the delegates against arbitration and a bitter fight is expected when the subject is reached.

TARIFF BILL VOTE TODAY

Democratic Revenue Measure Will Be Passed by the Senate.

REPUBLICANS FAIL TO AMEND THE BILL

Democrats Control Situation and Will Put the Bill Over.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The final vote on the tariff bill will be taken in the senate at 4 o'clock this afternoon.

This is in accordance with an agreement reached before the senate adjourned shortly before 2 o'clock this morning after a sixteen hours' session in which many important features, including free wool and free sugar, were disposed of.

Senators who had remained in the chamber until adjournment, returned sleepy-eyed at 9 o'clock for the final deliberations, the income tax, the cotton schedule and several other amendments remaining to be discussed. Senator La-Follette planned to discuss the cotton schedule and to offer amendments; Senator Bristow and Senator McCumber were ready for the final arguments against free cattle, free wheat and rates on other agricultural products, and Senator Norris planned to urge valorization of coffee amendments.

Senators Will Hurry Away.

An exodus of senators was confidently expected soon after the final vote, many indicating last night that they would leave for their homes or vacation resting places as soon as possible. Senator Simmons in urging the hour, 4 o'clock, for a vote, asserted it was imperative that one democrat, who wishes to vote for the bill, should leave town on a train at 5 o'clock. The tariff bill has been in the senate exactly four months and two days, having been sent over from the house May 8 last. During the bill in the senate, little business will be transacted as a quorum is not expected until demands are made for the currency measure. This, probably, will not come from committee for many weeks. In the meantime the senate probably will meet and adjourn every three days.

Hope to Get House to Agree.

The principal changes made in the bill by the senate concern the free list and the income tax. House leaders believe the senate changes would reduce the revenue the new duties were estimated to produce and they hope in conference to get senate leaders to agree to restore some of the house provisions.

The senate reduced the minimum on what the income tax will apply to from $4,000 to $3,000 and increased the rates on the larger incomes over the house provisions. Countervailing duties on some manufactured commodities were imposed by the senate to meet the free listing of raw materials. The countervailing duty on wood pulp was eliminated. The free wool and free sugar provisions, around which the spectacular features of the tariff fight raged, were unchanged by the senate. The income tax is expected to make up the loss of revenue on sugar. The bill has been in congress more than five months, and it probably will be nearly six months old before President Wilson signs it. House and senate leaders believe it will be two weeks or more before the disputed points are agreed upon and accepted by both houses.

Republicans Give Up Hope.

The republicans today gave up hope of carrying any amendments and permitted many of the votes to be taken

PASSENGERS ALL ESCAPE

COACHES PILE UP AT NEW MADISON, OHIO

All But One of Long Train of Pullmans Derailed —No One Killed.

New Madison, O., Sept. 9.—The New York St. Louis flyer on the Pennsylvania railroad was derailed four miles west of here at 9:40 this morning injuring thirty-five of the seventy-three passengers and fatally injuring three members of the crew. Six coaches went into a cornfield on one side of the track, the engine and tender striking a bridge abutment on the other side of the track and turning one span of the bridge into the air. The rear coach remained on the rails and the next coach, though off the track, did not turn over.

No passengers were seriously hurt but two firemen were so badly crushed and scalded it is believed they will die, and a chef in the diner was seriously scalded. The engineer suffered a severe scalp wound. The wreck occurred on a sharp curve where the track was weak, the train traveling at high speed. The injured were taken to Richmond, Ind., on a relief train sent to the scene of the wreck from that place.

A partial list of the injured follows:

A. T. Hackworth, postoffice inspector, Kansas City, Mo.

George D. Wright, Kansas City, Mo.

H. W. Ewing, dining car steward, Columbus, Ohio.

Ellis Gibson, dining car conductor, Logansport, Ind.

J. C. Rogers, engineer, Columbus.

HUNG BY HANDS TO FEED PIPE

High in the Air, Wrapped in Flames, F. W. Schultz Was Injured.

PENNSLYVANIA FIRE WAS SENSATIONAL

Pipe Breaks and Entire West Side of Blacksmith Shop Gutted

Hanging by his bare hands to a crude oil feed pipe, fifty feet above the floor of the Pennsylvania blacksmith shops, and surrounded by flames, Fred W. Schultz, a pipe fitter, residing at 1705 Lafayette street, suffered burns about his arms and hands shortly before noon today that may cost him his fingers, and perhaps necessitate the amputation of at least one hand.

The accident which resulted in the young man's burns occurred at 11:20 o'clock and was the origin of a fire that gutted the west portion of the blacksmith shops and damaged the building and machinery to the extent of several thousand dollars.

Schultz went into the blacksmith shops to repair a break in one of the oil lines used in conveying crude oil to the forging furnaces. In taking off a cap, or in unjointing the pipe, a stream of oil splashed to one of the furnaces and in a second or two the entire place was a mass of flames. The shopmen say Schultz held to the pipe with his bare hands and just in time to save him from dropping to the floor, a long extension ladder was shot up to him. He was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital and is under the care of Dr. E. R. Benninghoff, one of the company's assistant surgeons.

Blaze Was Spectacular.

Oil from the broken oil line permitted the flames to spread rapidly, and in spite of the fact that the Pennsylvania

COLD TRAIL OF THE MURDERER

New York Sleuths Trying to Solve Mystery of a Butchery.

SOME HEADWAY MADE

New York, Sept. 9.—The cold trail of the murdered who skillfully cut up his victim and sunk her body in the Hudson river less than ten days ago led detectives today to the little second hand store of George Sachs on the upper west side. There was sold the pillow with the fancy red and blue ticking in which a portion of the slain girl's body was found. A middle aged woman, stout and poorly dressed, bought it last April.

The hunt narrowed today to a search for this middle aged woman. Who she is and where she lives were questions a swarm of detectives set themselves to answer. The pillow was traced directly to her because the manufacturers had made but a dozen of its kind, had sold that dozen to Sachs, and Sachs had sold but two. One of these was accounted for, the other went to the woman sought by the detectives. The ten remaining pillows lie on Sachs' shelves. The river had yielded this morning no further members of the victim's body and identification was still guess work. Until the head is found, detection will probably be impossible.

Stories of girls missing from home have come by the dozen to the district attorney's office since the murder came to light. There were two instances, however, in which detectives were interested above all others. One was the case of Ella Sternemann, missing a year, whose father is the author of several incoherent letters sent to the morgue keeper and district attorney. Sternemann himself has disappeared and is sought to tell more of his conviction that the slain girl was his daughter.

The other case is that of Jeanette Norman, a vaudeville actress who was employed at a local amusement park. She disappeared on August 31. That is the date of the newspaper wrapped about the second portion of the torso. Indications that the slain girl was an actress have caused the police to institute a general search for Miss Norman.

GARAGE FIRE SPREADS.

Newburyport, Mass., Sept. 9.—An explosion of gasoline in a garage on Merrimac street today started a fire which spread rapidly to a number of business blocks and nearly a dozen residences. Help was summoned from four nearby cities. Edwin M. Ingalls, proprietor of the garage, was fatally burned and two employes seriously injured.

NATIONS PROMISE TO COME.

London, Sept. 9.—Great Britain, France, Germany, Russia, Finland, Denmark, Sweden and Austria have definitely promised James E. Sullivan, secretary of the American Athletic union, that they will send teams to San Francisco in 1915 at the opening of the Panama-Pacific exposition.

SEES GAIN FOR THE DEMOCRATS

Congressional Chairman is Optimistic on Maine Election.

REPUBLICANS WIN IT

Washington, Sept. 9.—Representative Doremus, of Michigan, chairman of the democratic congressional campaign committee was an early white house caller today and analyzed the results of the Maine election yesterday as a distinct democratic gain. Mr. Doremus pointed out that Pattangill, the democratic candidate, polled a greater vote than did President Wilson in the same district last fall.

"In a district that has always been republican," he said, "having elected a democrat only once since the civil war, the results show that the democrats more than held their own. This is highly gratifying, especially in an off-year election."

BY A NARROW MARGIN.

Portland, Me., Sept. 9.—Speaker John A. Peters (republican), of Ellsworth, was chosen to fill the vacancy in the third congressional district yesterday by a plurality of 553 over Mayor William A. Pattangill, democrat, of Waterville, with Edward M. Lawrence, of Lubec, progressive, a poor third in the race.

The returns in this special election from all but a small island plantation gave: Peters, 15,106; Pattangill, 14,553; Lawrence, 6,487.

The election made necessary by the death of Forest Goodwin, the republican representative from that district, was fought out on national issues with speakers of national prominence stumping the district for the republican, progressive and democratic candidates. The voters responded to the appeal in larger numbers than voted at the last presidential election.

Republican leaders are jubilant over their success in view of the fight waged by the national administration to capture the district.

Mr. Pattangill attributed his defeat to "part treachery" and denied that the result was a rebuke to the national administration.

RATTLER PENS UP WOMAN.

Venomous Serpent Just Coiled Up and Waited for Unafraid Man.

St. John's, Mich., Sept. 9.—A large rattlesnake kept Mrs. William Beebe, wife of a farmer living six miles north of here, a prisoner in the cellar of her home for nearly a half hour yesterday afternoon. While churning Mrs. Beebe saw the rattler crawl from behind a barrel and slowly coil itself on the floor between her and the door. After calling out several times she finally succeeded in attracting the attention of her daughter, who was on the floor above. The girl ran out into the field and summoned her father who killed the snake. It had fourteen rattles.

COATICOOK IS STILL ALL AGOG

Acquittal of Jerome Live Topic in Canadian Village.

HAS CLEARED AIR

Coaticook, Que., Sept. 9.—William Travers Jerome, acquitted last night on a charge of gambling, was the chief topic of discussion today among the 3,000 residents of Coaticook, though opinion was divided as to the verdict.

The scathing remarks of Magistrate Mulvena, who apologized to Jerome for the indignity offered him and declared the charge had been justified by neither law nor facts, had a sobering effect and even those who had been most bitterly opposed to Jerome in his efforts to get Harry K. Thaw back to Matteawan were inclined to admit that the court action had cleared the air and straightened out a situation which might have grown embarrassing. Accompanied by Deputy Attorney General Franklin, Jerome was on his way to Albany, N. Y., by motor today. He will return to Montreal by rail Sunday next, preparatory to Thaw's production Monday before the king's bench on a writ of habeas corpus. The arguments on the writ may mark the beginning of a legal battle of many weeks, and even months duration. Thaw is biding his time patiently in the immigration pen, apparently contented in the thought that his lawyers are doing all in their power to block his return to the asylum. His stenographer sees him every day but Thaw seems to have dropped his "publicity campaign." The need of spreading sentiment in Vermont, for one thing, is not so immediate as it was a few days ago, and it is understood that Thaw's lawyers said he must desist.

MRS. THAW ON THE GROUND.

Montreal, Sept. 9.—Harry K. Thaw's aged mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, reached Montreal today to aid her lawyers in preparing their line of attack on the plans of the immigration department to send Harry back to the United States. This afternoon she and her daughter, Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie, were to confer with the group of Thaw's lawyers here and arrange final details of the legal fight.

Neither Thaws relatives or his lawyers would discuss these details. "Gentleman" Roger Thompson, the chauffeur who drove the big black car in which Thaw escaped from Matteawan, left Montreal for Sherbrooke today to appear for the fourth time in court there in answer to the charge of bringing a lunatic into the dominion. Another postponement was expected.

TWO DIE IN AUTO WRECK.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 9.—Mrs. H. J. Forney and Mrs. D. M. Beck, of this city, were killed, and D. M. Beck and two members of his family were seriously injured today when their automobile was struck by a Reading railway express train. The accident occurred at Rossmoyne, six miles from here.

NOT IDENTIFIED AS LIVING HERE

SAYS NAME IS WELLS

Kansas City, Sept. 9.—Realizing that officers were closing in on him from each end of a bridge spanning the Kansas river, over which he tried to escape, after participating in the robbery of a store in Kansas City, Kans., last night, John Wells, 15 years old, who said his home was at Fort Wayne, Ind., leaped twenty-five feet to the river below. Wells jumped into three feet of water and about eight feet of mud, and he was gradually sinking into the mud when a policeman in a boat rescued him.

The name of John Wells appears in the Fort Wayne city directory, but it is not the young man mentioned in the press dispatch. Several Wells families reside in Fort Wayne, but all visited this morning knew nothing of John Wells, aged 15 years. Officials of the police department do not know the boy, but efforts are being made to locate relatives in this city.

CHINAMAN'S WHITE WIFE HELD.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Alice Davis Sing, white widow of Charles Sing, wealthy Chinese merchant, who was found slain in his home several days ago, today formally was booked on a charge of murder. She is being held without bail. The complainant is Frank Sing Low, a brother of the murdered man. The woman was questioned for hours but the police declined to speak of the crime, except to assert her innocence.

BIG TIM SULLIVAN HAS DISAPPEARED

MISSING ONE WEEK

New York, Sept. 9.—Congressman Timothy Sullivan, nicknamed "Big Tim" by the east side, has been missing a week. He disappeared at 2 o'clock last Tuesday morning from the country home of his brother in Williamsbridge, eluding his guards while they slept and no trace of him has been discovered since. His relatives fear that he has met with harm. He had but one dollar when he got away.

"Big Tim" had a nervous breakdown after the last election and in consequence never took his seat in congress. Instead he was placed in a sanitarium. The courts judged him incompetent to manage his estate of several million and a committee of four was appointed to take charge of his personal affairs. After a trip to Europe he was taken to his brother's home and three men were hired to guard him. He slipped away, however, one night about a month ago and revisited his haunts on the east side. Friends recognized him and he was under surveillance again within a few hours. On the evening of Sept. 1 "Big Tim" played cards with his guards till after midnight. Two of them fell asleep and the third followed suit about 2 o'clock. When this guard awoke he found himself and his two sleeping companions in the room alone. A search was begun, but without results.

"Big Tim" was born in 1862 and started life as a newsboy.

HEADS OF THREE GREAT PARTIES FAVOR NON-PARTISAN CITY GOVERNMENT

(By the Non-Partisan City Central Committee.)

To the Voters of the City of Fort Wayne:

What President Woodrow Wilson advocates ought to be good doctrine for democrats.

What Ex-President William Howard Taft advocates ought to be good doctrine for republicans.

What Ex-President Theodore Roosevelt advocates ought to be good doctrine for progressives.

What these three men, each the titular and actual head of his party—its highest oracle and supreme authority—agree upon and urge ought to be good doctrine and acceptable counsel for everybody.

President Wilson and Ex-Presidents Roosevelt and Taft hold in common the ground that municipal government should be non-partisan. Together they believe that it is unwise for the people of a community to be split up by partisan divisions on local questions concerning which the public mind should be in harmony.

President Wilson is a strong advocate of non-partisan city government. He is one of its staunchest supporters and most aggressive champions. As governor of New Jersey, he put into the legislative program the bill for the non-partisan government of cities in that state. He fought with all his strength to bring about its enactment and he won his fight over the opposition of the powerful machines of his own and the republican parties. Then he took off his coat and waded into the fight to help the sensible and progressive citizens of Trenton to secure its adoption by the capital city of New Jersey. Will the democratic president of the United States be called upon to defend himself that he did this thing?

While he was president, Mr. Taft, in a public address declared that the one great failure of the American system was in the government of the cities. This he charged to the folly of partisan rule in local affairs. Will the head of the republican party be called to account for these opinions?

Colonel Roosevelt has long held advanced ground on the subject of non-partisan government for cities. His expressions have been numerous, full of vigor and pointed with salient views gained from his own wide experience with municipal administration in the largest city on the continent. Must the creator of the progressive party show cause why he should not be denounced?

Voters of Fort Wayne, don't you think that what these three great leaders of the national parties so readily and fully agree upon is a good principle for you to accept? If you want authority and approval for non-partisan action in the city election, go to the great leaders of your national parties.

Canadian Coin

AMONG the visitors to Niagara Falls this season was Frank Getty, a machinist in the Wabash shops. Mr. Getty had a good time, and, like all others, made several purchases of souvenirs and other things from that foreign country located at the other end of the bridge which spans the Niagara river. Over there on the Canadian side Mr. Getty made several purchases. He was a little bit scar however, of getting some Canadian money in change, which he feared might not pass current in Fort Wayne, and so, when a quarter bearing the likeness of the late Queen Victoria was handed to him he kept his hands firmly clasped behind him and wouldn't loosen up until the good saleslady had dug up a real stars and stripes twenty-five-cent piece.

"Not for me," declared Mr. Getty. "I'm going to keep my eagle eye on every coin that comes my way." And so he did, and he got home without bringing any of the Canadian silver currency.

But——

When he opened his purse to pay a bill soon after he reached home, he drew out a $2 bill that looked a little strange. It bore the likeness of the late King Edward. He had been so watchful of the silver that he had failed to keep close tab on the paper money.

A local bank helped him out, however, and he managed to pull through without financial loss.

Firmly Clasped Behind Him.

LATOURETTE TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Republicans to Fire First Guns at Meeting at County Court House.

PREDICT BIG CROWD

The straight ticket republicans of Fort Wayne will officially open their municipal campaign this evening, and the first guns in the G. O. P. battle for ballots will be fired at a mass meeting to be held in the assembly room of the court house, when William H. LaTourette, the republican candidate for mayor delivers his keynote address.

Judge Benjamin W. Skelton, chairman of the republican city central committee, and a candidate for the office of city judge, has been working night and day in an effort to let the voters know that Mr. LaTourette is to speak this evening. All of the republican committeemen who are actively working for the success of their ticket have also put in some extra time in advertising the meeting, and according to the G. O. P. leaders there will be a crowd present.

Mr. LaTourette is to begin his address at 8:15 o'clock, and according to the program, will speak for one hour. It is likely that Judge Skelton will preside as chairman.

Non-Partisans Working.

Members of the citizens' non-partisan central committee and their assistants have just about completed their poll of the city. Their work has carried them to every ward, precinct and city block of Fort Wayne, and the success of the canvass has brought unlimited encouragement to the leaders of the non-partisan movement.

A meeting of the city central committee is to be held Thursday night, at which time final reports are to be made on the poll, and additional work of organization will be planned.

department was on the scene almost instantly with two streams of water they could make no headway and when an alarm was sent in to the city department, the entire west end of the shops was on fire and the employes of the adjoining buildings were forced to the street. Through the shop windows it appeared as if the entire interior of the building was a roaring furnace. Overhead timbers fell and by the time the city department had the blaze well under control the cupola was nothing but a skeleton of charred framework.

Into Paint Shop.

While the fire was at its fiercest stage it broke through the west walls of the blacksmith shops and into the paint shop where a large quantity of oils and paint is stored for ready use. Immediate attention was paid to this new danger and after a short time the flames were driven back. Assistant Fire Chief George Jasper who inspected the shops declares that the entire building would have gone up in flames had the wind been from the west, fanning the sparks toward the paint shop.

Six streams of water played on the building for nearly two hours, and at 1 o'clock this afternoon the fire had been extinguished. It is believed that the machinery is not badly damaged as the equipment in the blacksmith shops could not be easily damaged by water.

Jasper is Injured.

amendments. The majority declared that the bill "is intended to bring about necessary changes in the present banking and currency system of the United States and to correct long standing evils that have had a slow and deep-rooted growth. It aims at the rectification of the essential defects of the present system, although it does not seek to make all the innovations that might, from an ideal standpoint, be deemed desirable."

Necessary Fundamentals.

Reviewing the arguments against the so-called Aldrich plan outlined by the national monetary commission, and against all central bank plans suggested, the report said:

"After looking over the whole ground and after examining the various suggestions for legislation, the committee on banking and currency is firmly of the opinion that any effective legislation on banking must include the following fundamental elements, which is considered indispensable in any measure likely to prove satisfactory to the country.

"Creation of a joint mechanism for the extension of credit to banks, which possess sound assets and which desire to liquidate them for the purpose of meeting legitimate commercial, agricultural and industrial demands on the part of their clientele.

"Ultimate retirement of the present bond-secured currency, with suitable provision for the fulfillment of government obligations to bond holders, coupled with the creation of a satisfactory flexible currency to take its place.

To Enlarge Foreign Trade.

"Provision for better extension of American banking facilities in foreign countries to the end that our trade abroad may be enlarged and that American business men in foreign countries may obtain the accommodations they require in the conduct of their operations.

Beyond these cardinal and simple propositions the committee has not deemed it wise at this time to make any recommendations, save that in a few particulars, it has suggested the amendment of existing provisions in the national bank act, with a view to strengthening that measure at points where experience has shown the necessity of alteration."

Crediting the present financial system with chief responsibility for the various panics of the past half century, the report set forth that under the proposed law, the federal reserve banks to be created under the bill would have available at least $550,000,000 of reserves in cash.

"This," said the reports, "would create a reservoir of liquid funds far surpassing anything of similar kind ever available in this country heretofore. It would compare favorably with the resources possessed by government banking institutions abroad."

Reviews Bill by Sections.

The committee reviewed the bill section by section setting forth at great length the probable operation and results of the law.

In their minority report on the bill the republicans of the committee pointed out what they held to be the weaknesses of the measure. They said they found the democrats of the committee so bound by their caucus action that they could not consider amendments to the bill, which, if adopted, would have eliminated its unsound and questionable provisions.

They suggested that the provisions compelling national banks to subscribe for the capital stock of the federal reserve banks on pain of forfeiture of their charters, was "of doubtful constitutionality and wholly unnecessary and inexpedient."

If the plan of the bill is a good one, they said, the banks would gladly participate, if not, should the banks refuse to enter the system "all business would be disastrously effected."

Say It Creates Central Bank.

The republicans declared that the provision making the new federal reserve notes "obligations of the United States" practically creates a central bank. They urged that the powers of the federal reserve board are too great and "there is great danger as the bill is now drawn, that the banking business of the country may be used for partisan political advantage."

The progressives' views on the currency question were set forth in a report on the Glass bill filed several days ago by Representative Lindebergh of Minnesota, the progressive member of the committee.

Underwood Plans Defeated.

Republican objections defeated majority leader Underwood's plan for agreement to keep the house in day and night sessions on the administration currency bill until Saturday when the measure was reported today, but Mr. Underwood served notice he would keep the house working on such a program and force closing on debate Saturday night.

without roll call. When the fight over agricultural products opened Senators Thornton and Ransdell, of Louisiana, democrats, joined the republicans in voting against the low duties of the democratic bill. An amendment by Senator Bristow for a fifteen per cent. duty on cattle, swine, sheep and other domestic animals, was defeated 33 to 29. The senate committee's action in cutting off the ten per cent. duty on cattle fixed by the house bill and putting them on the free list was then ratified, 31 to 28.

Senator McCumber led the fight against free wheat. The house bill imposed ten cents a bushel, but the senate committee transferred the item to the free list. An amendment by Senator McCumber for a fifteen cent duty was defeated, 35 to 29.

Senator Jones made a further attempt to have retained in the bill the house provision for a five per cent. reduction in duty on all goods imported in American ships. He mustered only eleven republicans to his support, however, and the provision was removed. Many foreign governments had protested against it.

Free Meats Denounced.

The republicans made a last ineffectual effort to have the democrats take off the proposed duty of one-tenth of one cent a pound on bananas. The provision for free meats was denounced as "an iniquity" by Senator Bristow, who tried unsuccessfully to have a fifteen per cent. duty fixed. His amendment was defeated.

Another futile effort to put an anti-trust provision into the bill—one to transfer imports to the free list whenever it became apparent they were controlled by a trust—was made by Senator Cummins. His amendment was defeated.

"This was an opportunity for the democratic party to give some real relief from the burdens imposed by trusts and combinations," said Senator Cummins.

Cummins Says Wilson Is Boss.

Senator Cummins declared during the debate that congress had lost its place in the affections of the American people who had substituted in its place a single will—that of President Wilson. He assailed the democrats for the secret caucus and insisted they had ignored party principles. To prove his assertion he said he would read from the works of "The man who has more influence in the congress of the United States than any man ever before had."

"I refer to Woodrow Wilson," he added.

Senator Cummins quoted from President Wilson's book, "The new freedom," and from the chapter headed "Let there be light." Its text he said was that "Popular will should be substituted for the rule of guardians."

"That must have been written before he was appointed guardian for the American congress," he added. Senator Cummins insisted the democrats had not followed the principles laid down by the president in his book that "congress should open the doors and let there be light on things the people ought to know about." He added that through the president's domination of congress that body was rapidly drifting into a "subservient attitude."

Ingham, Mich., Sept. 9.—All cash, commercial notes, bonds and other securities of the State bank here were stolen today by thieves who wrecked the safe and the bank building with dynamite. No announcement of the amount of the loss has been made by the bank officials. It is believed the safe blowers escaped on horseback. A posse is searching the woods for them.

HELP! IT'S HERE—"FIRST IDEA" ART—WORSE THAN THE CUBIST

"Maybe I Draw Pictures Like This Because I Was Born Near an Insane Asylum—I Don't Know," Says Originator

Murray Wade's "first-idea" picture of a fashionable Portland grill room. The singing girl, the fat man, the Billikin judge, the waiters and the bandmaster took first place when Wade opened his eyes.

Oregon is noted all over these United States for her freak laws. She also has a lot of other freaks that have caused much or little notice from time to time. Now it has come to the bat with another freak. It's a he—and he's an artist. The recent cubist rage was what brought Murray Wade into the newspaper limelight. He explains it this way:

"It's just as if I awoke from a deep sleep and opened my eyes suddenly. Some things stand out prominently and others very indistinctly. At first sight some things appear in grotesque shapes. I draw the shapes quickly just as they appeared to me.

"Close your eyes for a few moments, then open them quick and you'll get my idea.

"This picture shows a fashionable grill room. I shut my eyes and then opened them quickly. First one of the singing girls walking past my table caught my eye, a fat man stood out prominently and a judge's countenance took on a billikin-like appearance. A waiter seemed to be flying towards a table and the band leader danced on his platform. Gradually the other things came into view and things became normal. But everything appeared queer at first."

Wade is an Oregon product and was born in Salem thirty-seven years ago.

"Maybe I draw these pictures because I was born near the state insane asylum," he said.

PAY TRIBUTE TO MRS. GART SHOBER

Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Fort Wayne Adopts Resolutions.

MANY AT FUNERAL

At a meeting of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis society this morning, resolutions were adopted in tribute to the memory of Jessie Winch Shober, treasurer of the organization, who died Saturday and whose funeral was held today. Mrs. Shober was one of the active officials of the society and its present prosperous condition is attributed largely to her untiring efforts in its behalf.

Funeral services for Mrs. Shober this morning were attended by a large audience of friends and relatives. Rev. Arthur J. Folsom, pastor of the Plymouth Congregational church, officiated, and she was laid to rest at Lindenwood cemetery.

The Resolutions.

Respectful tribute to Mrs. Shober is set forth in the following resolutions:

The officers and directors of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis society are deeply grieved at the death of Jessie Winch Shober.

She was one of the promoters of the society and largely through her efforts was it established here. From its inception she was one of the directors and was its secretary almost from its start to the time of her death. She was always a willing worker and energetic and enthusiastic in advancing the cause.

She will be greatly missed by her coworkers and her death is to them not only a sorrow but a serious bereavement. Her place in the society cannot be filled as she filled it.

The death of a woman like Mrs. Shober is not only a loss to her family and her associates but is a loss to the city and humanity in general. It is no easy thing to make an estimate of the loss of such a person. There are too few men and women in any community who are willing to work for their fellows without pay and without price, and with no expectation of reward except as it comes to them in the consciousness of duties done. The death of such a person, especially one so young, as was Mrs. Shober, is a calamity. Not only do the officers and directors of the Fort Wayne Anti-Tuberculosis society mourn her death, but all who are interested in its uplift and betterment of the city will feel sorrow for her loss.

TO FORCE USE OF STEEL CARS.

Congress Will Have Bill to Prohibit Wooden Coaches.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Consideration will be given early next winter to the proposed legislation prohibiting railroads after January 1, 1918, from using express, baggage or passenger cars not made of steel. A bill covering such a prohibition already has been introduced by Senator O'Forman. After January 1, 1914, the senator's bill provides it shall be unlawful for a railroad to place such cars not constructed of steel between cars constructed of steel, or from bringing into use after that date of any new car not constructed of steel.

WRITING LIFE OF PRESIDENT.

Washington, Sept. 9.—President Wilson's life history, from infancy, to almost imperial power, is to be the theme of a book which Secretary Daniels now is writing in the time he is not directing the movements of the floating fortresses of the United States navy. The manuscript it developed today is nearly completed and will be an intimate biography of the president. Arrangements are said to have been made already with an eastern publishing house to bring out the book.

BIG BOND ISSUE TO THE COUNCIL

CITY HALL MATTERS

At the meeting of the city council tonight Controller Sherman Cutshall will have introduced an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $140,000 which will be used as a refunder on old railroad bonds which will fall due on October 10 of this year.

This will give time to refer the matter to the finance committee for a report at the meeting of September 23 which will give ample time to arrange all of the preliminary.

It is proposed to pay with this $137,181 of Lake Shore, Grand Rapids and Indiana and Wabash bonds and leave a balance on hand to provide for payments of $15,000 due the first of next July. There is on hand in the sinking fund $161,819 and the entire indebtedness is $299,000.

When this has been paid on the original issue a balance of $137,181 will be left and the difference between this and $140,000 with the collections for this fall and next spring will enable the finance department to take care of the July payments.

This issue of bonds will be the first the city proper has made since Jan. 15, 1900 when $146,000 of water works bonds were sold in addition to $100,000 issued a year before.

This matter has been before the council for some time and the fact that the money will fall due has been kept in view. The bonds to be issued will be for twenty years and will bear four and a half per cent. interest.

Board Will Ask Money.

An ordinance will probably be presented by the board of public works asking about $25,000 for the maintenance of streets during the remainder of the year. The funds are running low and this much will be necessary to keep the work going.

Will Present Ordinances.

Ordinances will be presented at the meeting tonight providing for the appointment of two detective sergeants and a captain of detectives and ratifying the grant of a spur made by the board of public works to the Berghoff Brewing company.

A favorable report will be returned on the ordinance creating a police matron's position and providing for the pay.

THE BIRTH RECORD.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. White, 2114 Phenie street, girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kreigk, 1217 Archer, girl.

NEWELL DECIDED TO PLEAD GUILTY

Forger is Sentenced to Prison from Two to Fourteen Years.

OTHER COURT CASES

Earl E. Newell, who was shot and slightly wounded by Sergeant Louis Crawley, of the police department, when he tried to escape after his arrest a few weeks ago, decided to plead guilty in the circuit court today to a charge of forgery and was sentenced to serve from two to fourteen years in the reformatory at Jeffersonville.

When he was arraigned some time ago on the charge Newell refused to admit his guilt and demanded a trial by jury and his case was set for hearing today and a jury called in. When he ascertained that Prosecutor Harry Hilgemann and Deputy Stephen A. Callahan had obtained a long list of his forgeries and that he is wanted at Anderson, Ind., and Fort Worth, Texas, he changed his mind.

The crime for which he was sentenced consisted of passing a forged check signed by J. P. Mueller, drawn for $5.80 and cashed by John C. Helmcamp. There were a number of other spurious checks turned up and information in the hands of the state's attorneys is to the effect that he has operated at St. Louis, Detroit, Chicago and Appleton, Wis.

He forged a number of traveling cards purporting to have been issued from different lodges of Elks and this made it easier for him to obtain money on worthless paper.

Prisoners Are Disposed Of.

Roy Bates, Arthur Graves, William Smith and Carl Schroeder, recently convicted in the circuit court, have been taken to Jeffersonville in charge of Deputy Sheriff Ed Courdevey, assisted by Jerry O'Conner, Henry Blake and William Kiep. Turnkey Henry Parnin took Jack Edwards to the Michigan City prison.

Notes of the Courts.

Settlement was reached outside of court in the mechanic's lien case of Oliver J. Harper against Fred G. Salzbrenner and after hearing part of the evidence yesterday it was dismissed today.

Jay A. Hindman has entered suit to recover $1,400 on a note against Oran Bowman. Breen & Morris represent him.

J. Herman Bueter has named his farm on the New Haven road "Shady Nook" and has registered the name with the county recorder.

In superior court the Neuenschwander ditch, in Maumee and Jackson townships, has been established and Ralph W. Guenther was named as superintendent.

State Asks Continuance.

In the circuit court this afternoon Deputy Prosecutor Frank R. Dulin said he would ask a continuance of the habeas corpus hearing under proceedings instituted late yesterday by Martin Brown against Agnes Brown, his former wife. He wants the custody of his four children which he says was awarded to him in a divorce suit in one of the Michigan courts. Mr. Dulin said he was not prepared to try the case.

Surety Case Is Dismissed.

A surety of the peace affidavit filed against Lillian Paul by Patty Anderson was dismissed today in the circuit court.

Case Put on Trial.

The divorce suit of Elizabeth Jones against Herman Jones was placed on trial in the superior court late this afternoon.

MERCHANTS WANT ATTACKS TO CEASE

ALSO INCREASE DUES

At the regular monthly meeting of the Fort Wayne Merchants' association Monday evening at the Commercial club, Charles M. Mills, manager of the Rurode dry goods store, was re-elected president of the organization to serve during the coming fiscal year. Other officers were chosen as follows: Vice president, Charles Niebergall; treasurer, M. J. Marttene; secretary, Harry F. Kennerk.

Among other things, the members voted to raise the membership dues of the association from $1.50 per quarter to $2.50, beginning January 1, 1914. Initiation fees, which have never before been taxed, will be $5 for each new firm becoming affiliated with the association.

Against Misrepresentation.

A resolution scoring unjust statements made recently by the press was drafted by George M. Haffner, L. J. Libbing and Frank J. Rahe, and was adopted as follows:

Whereas, there has appeared at various times in several of our local newspapers statements that tend to injure the reputation of our fair and prosperous city and its business interests by misstatements regarding its moral, financial and civic conditions, and

Whereas, the merchants are the main supporters of the newspapers and are always boosting for the best interests of Fort Wayne, therefore be it

Resolved, That it is the sense of the Fort Wayne Retail Merchants' association that the local publications refrain from further vicious attacks of this nature in the future, and therefore assist in building up a greater Fort Wayne.

WOMAN'S DEATH A MYSTERY.

Body of Society Leader of Chicago Suburb Found in Lake.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Friends and neighbors of Mrs. Walter B. Smith, wealthy society woman of Lake Forest, Ill., Chicago's most exclusive suburb, whose body was found yesterday afternoon with a cord around the neck, in Lake Michigan, today discussed the circumstances of her death and were unable to offer any satisfactory explanation of the strange case. The coroner's inquest, which was held late last night, failed to throw any light on the mystery.

The jury's verdict gave no theory as to the cause of death. The verdict read: "We, the jury, find that Florence M. Smith came to her death by drowning in Lake Michigan off the pier of Lake Forest."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

HUNTINGTON FEVER TRACED TO WELLS

Typhoid Scourge Traced in That City Proved to Have Had Origin in Three Contaminated Water Holes.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 9.—All cases of typhoid fever contracted in Huntington that have been properly reported to the city health board have been traced to three wells by City Health Commissioner Dr. R. F. Frost. But fifteen cases of typhoid fever have been reported to the health officers since June and of these five were contracted away from Huntington, according to the records kept by Dr. Frost.

One of the wells, and probably the worst one of the lot, is located at 642 South Jefferson street. From its contaminated water six cases of typhoid fever developed, all in the immediate vicinity and in families who used the water in preference to city hydrant water, it is said. The well has been condemned by Dr. Frost, an analysis showing it contained a heavy percentage of fever bacilli.

Another contaminated well is situated at 448 Whitelock street. Two cases of typhoid fever developed from using water from that well. The other well is at 620 South Jefferson street, and two cases are traced to its polluted water. Thus only five other cases were to be accounted for.

Dr. Frost, after a personal examination, discovered that of the other cases two were contracted in a summer resort miles from Huntington and the other three developed while the patients were away from the city.

"If there are more cases of typhoid fever in Huntington they have not been reported to me," said Dr. Frost, in commenting on the situation. "And from the usual ready response I have met in affairs of this kind I am inclined to be optimistic and believe there are no cases other than those reported to me.

"There are just two kinds of water in Huntington," continued the health officer. "There is hydrant water—pure wholesome water—and there is well water—contaminated and filled with typhoid fever germs. People who persist in drinking well water in this season of the year must be aware of the consequences. Hydrant water has been shown to be pure by an expert analysis by the state health board and Huntington need have no fear of a typhoid fever epidemic if that water is used."

PIERCETON VETERAN DIES.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 9.—Joseph Hanson justice of the peace of Washington township, and an old resident of Pierceton is dead of heart trouble. Mr. Hanson's death came as a great shock to his friends at Pierceton. On Sunday he decided to visit his farm, near that town, and while out there Stanton Galbreath noticed that Mr. Hanson was not looking well, and, in fact, while there his condition became quite bad. Later he was removed to his home in Pierceton and passed away some time after his arrival. Joseph Hanson was a veteran of the Seventy-fourth Indiana regiment, and a man of sterling character. He is survived by a widow and a son, Leonard Hanson. The funeral service will be held on Wednesday at the home in Pierceton. The remains will be conveyed to Warsaw for burial at Oakwood cemetery.

WOMAN SAVES LANDMARK.

Huntington, Sept. 9.—Huntington's oldest landmark, the Bratton house, on South Jefferson street, was saved from destruction by fire by the quick wit of Mrs. Charles Alleman, its present owner. Fire caught in the dry old roof that has weathered the storms for more than three-quarters of a century, and was just fanning into a blaze when Mrs. Alleman, who lives next door, saw the impending destruction of the prized relic. She hastily obtained a garden hose and connecting it on a hydrant played the stream of water on the fire. Neighbors joined her in answer to calls and the fire department at Central station was summoned. The blaze was all but out when the department arrived, but a big hole had been burned in the roof of the old building.

FACE DISFIGURED WITH ERUPTION

Spread Over Entire Face. Itched and Burned Terribly. Heavy White Crust. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Made Complete Cure.

810 East Elm St., Streator, Ill.—"A running sore broke out above my right eye, which spread over my entire face. It started as a small pimple. I scratched it open and the contents of this small pimple ran down my face. Wherever this ran a new sore appeared. They itched and burned terribly; I couldn't touch my face it burned so. It disfigured my face terribly and I couldn't be seen for everyone was afraid of it. It looked like a disease of some kind; it was all red and a heavy white crust on it. Everybody kept out of my way, afraid it would spread. I lost rest at night and I couldn't bear to have anything touch my face, not even the pillow. I had to lie on the back of the head. I was always glad when morning came so I could get up. It was extremely painful.

"I used ——— salve with small results. At last I thought of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and I commenced using them. I used the sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, one twenty-five-cent cake of Cuticura Soap and a half box of the fifty-cent size of Cuticura Ointment. It took three weeks to complete the cure." (Signed) Miss Caroline Miller, Apr. 30, 1913.

PIONEER WOMAN PASSES AWAY.

Mrs. C. D. Waidlich Was Early Resident of Columbia City.

Columbia City, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Christian D. Waidlich, a resident of this city for nearly sixty-five years and one of the very earliest settlers in Columbia City, is dead here at the age of 82 years, 8 months and 25 days. She had not been in good health for some time but was not confined to her bed very long. Being endowed with remarkable vitality and will power, she maintained an interest in private and business affairs almost to the last, and even Sunday morning she talked about business matters with L. D. Clapham.

Elizabeth Myers was born in Osnaberg, Ohio, Dec. 12th, 1830, and was one of a large family of children, of which she was the last. She was a daughter of Henry and Mary Myers and was a sister of the late Daniel Myers. When a young woman she moved to this county with her parents in 1849 and was afterwards married to Mr. Bixbee with whom she liver about a year.

On February 2nd, 1854, she was united in marriage to Christian Waidlich but no children were born to them. He passed away about twelve years ago. Mr. Waidlich had two children by a former marriage, one of whom survives, Mrs. George W. Eicholtz, of Indianapolis. Twenty-one nephews and nieces also survive.

The deceased was a charter member of the Lutheran church in this city and was a woman widely known for more than half a century.

GREEK HUNTS PERFIDIOUS GREEK

Portland Greeks on Lookout for Man Who Betrayed Country.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 9.—The Greek government, through Portland Greek residents, will be notified of the presence of Cost Grispidi in the United States, and Captain James Charopollis, of the Greek army, who unexpectedly encountered Grispidi in this city last night. They entertain the belief that an effort will be made to locate him through United States officials at Washington.

Charopollis and Harry Somas, who were accompanied to Muncie by Marshal Tieben and Policeman Wingate, in search of Grispidi, returned here. It was thought that the hunted man, who turned traitor to his country during the Balkan war and for whom the Greek government offers a reward of 50,000 francs, ($10,000) dead or alive, has gone to Muncie, but it is believed now that if he left Portland on the traction line he got off the car at Redkey, leaving there over one of the steam lines.

Charopollis is doubly anxious to apprehend Grispidi. He suffered three gun shot wounds as a result of Grispidi's treachery in leading the Turkish soldiers down on the Greeks and besides was given demerit marks in his army record for permitting Grispidi, who was in his command, to leave the ranks the night that the fugitive joined the Turks.

MISSING WOMAN IS FOUND.

Miss Heuer, of Adams County, Picked Up Near Fort Wayne.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 9.—Miss Sophia Heuer, the young woman whose mysterious disappearance last Thursday from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Heuer, of Root township, this county, was the cause of much excitement and widespread search by the officers and alarmed neighbors, was found near Fort Wayne and is now at her home. Searching parties in automobiles tracked her to a point three and a half miles north of Fort Wayne and she was overtaken while walking along the road. She was not at all excited when apprehended and in answer to questions said she was looking for work. Miss Heuer had been wandering for nearly five days and evidently had been sleeping out nights or in barns and abandoned buildings. Her long journey had covered many miles and was very devious. Notwithstanding the hardships she must have undergone she did not appear to be greatly worn. She has nothing to say regarding her flight and the aimless wanderings upon which it led her. It is believed the woman was made temporarily insane by the heat of the day and the fatigue of the family ironing which she was doing when she fled from home.

STARTS FIRE; LEAPS WINDOW.

Van Wert Woman Has Gasoline Explosion and a Fall.

Van Wert, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The city fire department was called to the home of Taylor Putnam, of South Shannon street, to extinguish a small blaze, that was caused by an explosion of gasoline, which ignited in a peculiar manner. Mr. Putnam's daughter came down a stairway carrying a can of gasoline and when at the foot of the stairs stepped upon a match which ignited the fluid, and caused it to explode. The girl dropped the can, and ran up the starway, pursued by the flames, and it is a miracle to the firemen how she escaped without being seriously burned, as the flames shot into an upper bedroom, setting a bed on fire. In the belief that the house was doomed, she ran to a window and jumped to the ground, fourteen feet below, injuring her back, and sustaining many painful bruises, in addition to slight burns on her hands. For a time it was feared that she might have suffered internal injuries, but it is now thought that she will make a safe recovery. The damage to the house was slight, not exceeding $25.

SCOURGE SCARE AT LEESBURG.

Warsaw, Ind., Sept. 9.—The opening of the Leesburg schools has been postponed for a week on account of a diphtheria scare. There are no cases of the contagion in Leesburg, but the fact that fifteen men ate dinner prepared by a woman who afterwards developed a case of the contagion, has caused the health officials and physicians to take every precaution against a spread of the disease. While some Leesburg people are greatly alarmed, the physicians say there is no cause for worry. In postponing the opening of the schools the authorities exercised their best judgment and their action will probably meet with general approval. According to a report from Leesburg antitoxin was administered to about forty persons. The Leesburg physicians do not expect a single case of the disease to break out.

If peevish, feverish, tongue coated, give "fruit laxative" at once.

No matter what ails your child a laxative should be the first treatment given.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign your "little one's" stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" and in just a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless fruit laxative. Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

DOCTORS INDORSE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE FOR THE HAIR

When a doctor endorses a preparation it means more than an ordinary testimonial. His opinion is always that of the professional man devoted to the welfare of the people.

Dr. J. J. Boyd, Covington, Tenn., says: "I feel it my duty to write this for the benefit of those suffering from dandruff. In the average case a few applications of Newbro's Herpicide will remove all dandruff. It is advisable to continue its use for several weeks."

The words of J. B. Thompson, M. D., No. 2 Burrough Place, Cor. Hollis St., Boston, Mass., are not less enthusiastic: "I can only speak in praise of Newbro's Herpicide. It is all that is claimed and perhaps more. Herpicide not only cleanses the scalp but brightens the hair, gives it life and makes it soft."

Dr. T. A. Moore, Duncan, Ariz., writes of his experience: "My scalp was in places covered by patches of dry, scaly material and the itching was incessant. Since using Herpicide all these evils have disappeared and my hair is soft, smooth and growing. Hair has grown on spots before but thinly covered."

Newbro's Herpicide is "the original remedy to kill the dandruff germ" and stop falling hair. The terrible itching which goes with dandruff is allayed almost at once."

Newbro's Herpicide in 50c and $1.00 sizes is sold by all dealers who guarantee it to do all that is claimed. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded.

Applications may be obtained at the leading barber shops. Be sure you get genuine Herpicide. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

THE SENTINEL'S DAILY SCRIPTURE READING.

Ezra— 7:21-28.

21 And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasurers which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God in heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily.

22 Unto an hundred talents of silver, and to an hundred measures of wheat, and to an hundred baths of wine, and to an hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribing how much.

23 Whatsoever is commended by the God of heaven, let it be diligently done for the house of the God of heaven: for why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

24 Also we certify you, that touching any of the priests and Levites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or ministers of this house of God, it shall not be lawful to impose toll, tribute or custom, upon them.

25 And thou, Ezra, after the wisdom of thy God, that is in thine hand, set magistrates and judges, which may judge all the people that are beyond the river, all such as know the laws of thy God; and teach ye them that know them not.

26 And whosoever shall not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

27 Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, which hath put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

28 And hath extended mercy unto me before the king, and his counsellers, and before all the king's mighty princes. And I was strengthened as the hand of the Lord my God was upon me, and I gathered together out of Israel chief men to go up with me.

TUESDAY, SEPT. 9, 1913.

For the Voter to Determine.

What the common-sense citizen of Fort Wayne has to determine in this municipal contest is what is best for himself and the city. If he believes the time has come when he owes more to his own interests and stronger allegiance to his city than he owes to his party he will be in no doubt of what he ought to do.

The non-partisan movement clears the way for him to square his political action with municipal betterment. He is given the opportunity to join with his fellow citzens in determining local public questions upon their merits. He is made free to consult his own judgment and choose his own course to such ends as will make his home government better and his share in its benefits larger. The non-partisan movement puts the issue of municipal administration where it belongs for determination—in the bosom of the citizen and not in keeping of politicians, place-hunters who make a prey of office and hangers-on who are looking for easy berths to lie in.

The voters of Fort Wayne are asked to study the underlying purpose and the fundamental principle of non-partisan action in city affairs. They are asked to inform themselves minutely about the candidates chosen by the people to carry into practice the tenets of the non-partisan movement for the establishment of a government of and for all the people of the city. If such examination and study do not convince them that the best opportunity they ever have had to promote the interests of Fort Wayne and advance the welfare of its people is offered in the non-partisan principles and ticket, then they may go with clear conscience in some other direction in quest of the kind of government they believe Fort Wayne deserves.

The purpose of the board of works to cut out some of the worst jogs and angles in certain of Fort Wayne's streets that are not straight is worth while and contemplates public improvements that have long been talked of and that long ago should have been accomplished. Fort Wayne has been created much like Topsy, who "just growed." The result is a good many thoroughfares whose meanderings are confusing to the stranger and a peril to traffic. Broadway has four "elbows" and is about as crooked as a street can be and go anywhere. The proposal to blunt the angle at Broadway and Taylor street will if carried out remove a very dangerous situation at a point where traction, vehicular and foot traffic is very heavy. It is not apparent that the cost will be very great, either at that location or any other of the three or four which are under contemplation for immediate improvement. Meanwhile, the government of the city can do no better thing than to see that no more streets are laid out along cowpaths and bridle trails.

After all the Americans have fled from Mexico and American interests have been suppressed, withdrawn or destroyed our turbulent neighbors will realize with regret whence it was that a good deal of their prosperity came. This observation has no application to the one or two millions of brigands that rape an impartial livelihood from everybody who isn't a brigand and in war times from each other. The Gringo is not a very popular institution in Greaser land just now, but his money will be on that account none the less missed.

William Travers Jerome was discharged with honors upon honors from the Canadian court where he was tried on a charge of gambling. To these choice distinctions he adds precious experiences to his stock of reminiscences, if with the coming of years he takes much to that sort of Septuagenarian cackle. "When I was in jail in Coaticook" ought in time to become about the best one in the Jerome repertoire.

The New Haven road announces that it is to be made the safest railroad in all the world. Surely it is time. The New Haven will have a fat batting average in the matter of slaughter if it should kill no more passengers for the balance of the century.

CITY ENGINEERS TO GATHER AT CLEVELAND FROM ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY FOR NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON PAVING

Some of the noted engineers who will attend conference: Top, D. R. Lyman, Louisville, Ky.; M. R. Sherrard, Newark, N. J.; F. J. Cellarius, Dayton, Ohio. Bottom, E. H. Christ, Grand Rapids, Mich.; Edwin A. Fisher, Rochester, N. Y.; Henry Maetzel, Columbus, Ohio.

Cleveland, Sept. 9.—Great preparations are being made here for a brick paving conference which will attract 500 city engineers and road experts from all sections of the country. State and county highway departments and the Cleveland bureau of engineering are joining forces to help make the conference one of the most successful ever held.

The engineers will spend two days in minute study of the methods of construction that have won world-wide fame for the thousand miles of paved roads in Cleveland and Cuyahoga county. A hundred automobiles will form in one procession for a grand tour over city streets and country roads that radiate in thirty main arteries from the center of Cleveland.

Cleveland has many miles of paved streets, laid nineteen years ago, which have not cost a cent for maintenance. These old streets are apparently good for more than double their present life and the engineers will thoroughly study the construction methods employed to make them last so long.

Discussion of best paving practices, led by the most noted paving engineers, are expected to be of inestimable value to the good roads movement.

The regular dates set for the conference are September 17 and 18, but many of the visitors will spend several days in Cleveland in consideration of detailed technic in connection with road building problems. The conference is to be held under the auspices of the National Paving Brick Manufacturers' association. City civil engineers of practically every city of importance in the country are preparing to attend.

NOW COMES LATTICE WORK.

Pittsburg Reports Another Extreme in Modern Styles for Women.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 9.—Latticed limbs are fashion's latest fancy in the moving picture show displayed by the evolution of the slit skirt, and ribbons to be worn criss-crossed from instep to knee are now shown in Pittsburg stores to tempt fair women to wear, and others to look and admire. The ribbons, shown in many brilliant hues, are fastened to the daintiest of slippers and pumps by tiny buckles, one in front, one at each side of the instep and the others a little farther back. From these buckles the ribbons are crossed back and forth in diamond pattern and end in bewitching bows on either side just below the knee.

To reveal the full beauty of this new fashion would seem to require not only a slit in the side of the skirt, but one in front, another at the back, and, in fact, all the way round. So far there has been no news of any Pittsburg woman appearing on the streets arrayed in this new bravery of style, but it is believed that the friendly feeling of the officials of the city toward anything that lovely woman chooses to put on will make the latticed hose very popular here.

SHAKES HANDS BY PROXY.

Parisian Artist, Tiring of Friendly Greetings, Uses Clever Invention.

Paris, Sept. 9.—Poulbot, the artist, is tired of the everlasting handshaking of his polite countrymen. He protested, but most of his acquaintances insisted on shaking hands with him every time he went to his favorite cafe to get a bite or a drink.

In desperation Poulbot has suspended a wooden hand by a chain in the cafe and a second chain rests in a kettle near the hand. Each time he enters the cafe Poulbot goes to this hand, shakes it so vigorously that the chain in the kettle rattles, which is notice that he has shaken hands with all present.

Armed with a revolver, Petriack defiantly awaited the approach of the police. After a hard struggle he was overpowered and imprisoned.

FIREMEN CAN BE HEROES WITHOUT MAKING ANY FUSS ABOUT IT.

FIREMEN, OVERCOME BY DEADLY SMOKE, BEING REVIVED BY OXYGEN MACHINE—ONE CASE OUT OF 150 AT CHICAGO.

They had a bad fire in Chicago the other day.

It wasn't really a fire, but just a smudge. Smouldering flames under four buildings in a downtown block merely poured out smoke for more than twelve hours.

A fire chief leading his men into a basement was knocked unconscious by a falling door. A surgeon sewed up his head and he returned to the battle. Two hours later he fell to the pavement, asphyxiated, breaking open the wound. Then he was sent home against his protest.

"Turn on the lake," was the order, and 1,000,000 gallons of water flooded the basement, while up through it bubbled the smoke and deadly fumes from the fire below.

On an average a fireman was overcome every five minutes for more than twelve hours. There were 112 men at work. More than 150 times a fallen fighter was hauled from alley or basement or tunnel and revived by lung motor or oxygen tank.

When the fire was conquered there were forty-seven of them in the hospital and nearly all the rest had been taken home half dead. Did any one ever hear of such a percentage of casualties in battle?

They did all this just as their regular day's work.

And the fire fighters of Fort Wayne would have done the same thing and said just as little about it.

In fact the Fort Wayne fireman have done such heroic and unspectacular work time after time, going calmly into the smoking inferno of a factory, barn, apartment house or wareroom, falling at the front, and returning to the fight as soon as they could stand erect.

The spirit of all firemen seems the same. There are no "quitters." And it is not at all strange that a city boy's greatest hero is a fireman.

How to Absorb an Unlovely Complexion

(Phyllis Moore in Town Talk.)

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin-smooth skin, pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged, faded or discolored one—I mean a natural, not a painted, complexion—is ordinary mercolized wax. This remarkable substance literally absorbs the unsightly cuticle, a little each day, the clear, healthy, girlish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week or so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, moth patches, liver spots, blotches and pimples are discarded with the old skin. If you will procure an ounce of mercolized wax at the drug store, use like cold cream every night, washing this off mornings, you'll find it a veritable wonder worker.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkles which can be easily prepared. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it "works like magic."

With many lavender and white asters, forming an exceedingly pretty decoration Mrs. Earl Thompson, of West Wayne street, gave a "shower" party for Miss Olive Doud, this afternoon and entertained fifteen young women at a thimble party. When supper was served and the guests entered the diningroom they uttered many exclamations of surprise and pleasure at the unique appearance of the table. Tall handled baskets filled with the two colors of asters occupied the center and four corners of the table. A ribbon clothesline was strung from each corner to the other and on the line were pinned with miniature clothespins, doll stockings. Place cards were also fastened to the line. The doll stockings were suggestive of the shower of silk ones for Miss Doud and her gifts were placed in a pretty basket suitable for a darning basket and left at her chair before she left the table. Miss Doud is receiving numerous compliments in the entertaining line. Yesterday thirty ladies of the Woman's society of the Wayne Street M. E. church gathered at the Doud home and presented Miss Olive with numerous articles all suitable for a bride to be. To morrow afternoon Miss Josephine Dinnen will entertain the same young woman and Miss Alma Doehrman will be a hostess in Miss Doud's honor next week.

Mrs. Henry J. Taylor, of 218 West Creighton avenue, gave a very beautiful party this afternoon in honor of her sister, Miss Grace Baker, who is to be one of the brides of this month. During the early hours of the afternoon the guests, who numbered fifteen friends of Miss Baker, hemmed dust cloths and worked initials in towels for her. The time was merrily spent until the supper hour when interest immediately became centered in the lovely appearing table where yellow and white snapdragon blossoms in the center, bride roses at each place and a corsage of roses of the honor guest were quite suggestive of a coming nuptial event. Still there was no definite announcement appearing until the plates were removed for the dessert, then cards were found bearing the names of Miss Baker and Dayton F. Abbott and the date, September 30. Further confirmation of the nearness of the wedding day appeared in individual bride cakes and frozen cupids and hearts. Miss Baker received a shower of good wishes and congratulations from her friends with whom she is a great favorite. Mr. Abbott is chief of police in Fort Wayne and the youngest man who has ever held that high office in this city. He has added to that distinction a splendid record for ability and efficiency and enjoys the esteem of his men and the confidence of the police. Mr. Abbott is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, a member of Fort Wayne lodge of Elks and of the Knights of Pythias. He has a large circle of friends with whom he is a favorite.

AT THE EMPRESS

Have any of you theatergoers in Fort Wayne enjoyed a performance in which Matt Wheeler played a part? Of course you regular playgoers have, but the chances are that you never before saw Wheeler so entertaining as he appears this week at the Empress theatre as Nobody, one of the many symbols in "Happiness." Wheeler's duty as Nobody is to introduce each act and all the other characters in this clever little drama, and he certainly possesses a part with nothing but lines of fun and wit. As he says: "Nobody has nothing to do for anybody."

"Happiness" is one of the most entertaining moral tabloids that has ever been presented on the vaudeville stage. Everyhusband and Everywife have their troubles and temptations and during their brief period of stormy matrimonial experiences, Happiness, Rhyme and Reason go hand in hand with Jealousy, Care, Drink, Gamble, and in the four scenes a score of other symbolic characters are introduced before Everyhusband and Everywhere are finally able to bring Happiness back into their home.

Lew Wells is another clever entertainer this week at the Empress. Wells has a lot of new stories and his monologue never fails to keep the audience in an uproar continuously. He also plays a saxaphone. As an extra added feature this week, the Empress presents Katie Sandwina and her company of continental gymnasts, recently one of the sensations of Ringling Bros., but now making her initial American vaudeville tour. She is one of the strongest and most beautiful women of the circus world. We have with us also the ragtime roisterers, Harry Darcy and Andy Williams in songs and selections that are new and literally filled with the so-called "pep." Their offering is received with much applause. Willisch, the jesting juggler is also here with a new juggling act that is making a distinct hit with Empress patrons. As a whole the bill is hard to beat and is of sufficient attractiveness to pack the popular playhouse to the doors at each performance.

AT THE TEMPLE

The first show of the week at the Temple theater strikes the unusual as it is a tabloid of a musical comedy of unusual merit, both as a play and in its presentation. The name is "Rock-A-Bye-Baby," and it takes a cast of seven principals besides an equal number of chorus girls who sing well, dress well and are graceful, and a musical director. There are some pretty songs, excellent chorus singing, clever acting and a real sort of a plot on the farce order that is very funny.

Grace Cumings, Harry Thornton, John Merrill, Walter Moye, Betty Caldwell, Jim Gallagher and Dotty Bard make good individually and collectively in the cast. Miss Bard is very pretty and attractive and sings well. Miss Caldwell sings and dances with equal facility. Miss Cumings cuts up and looks cross-eyed. She certainly works hard enough to draw a laugh from most anyone. The men are all pleasing. Mr. Gallager plays the violin and cello and does some difficult things on the violin that catch the audiences, especially in the ragtime selections and "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." The piece is well staged and costumed and there are plenty of chances to laugh over the fun of the numerous situations. Altogether it is a live and a lively show and well worth the seeing. It will be seen only until Thursday, when the Temple bill changes every week.

The current events shown by the Mutual Weekly are interesting as always. As a factor in education the pictures of the news of the world the first half of the week are as popular as anything of the Temple features.

On Thursday afternoon the bill changes and the management have booked a great vaudeville bill, headed by the diving venus, Mermaida, and her mermaids, and they are some mermaids too, in marvelous aquatic feats. Other features on the bill will be McNish and McNish, with the original Frank McNish, the two jolly fellows in "Bonehead frolics;" Capros Brothers in marvelous equilibristic novelty; Graham and Randall in a comedy dramatic satire, "A Gay Old Boy;" Keough Sisters in a refined singing and dancing offering and the first run photo-plays completes a most attractive bill for the last three days of this week.

TO BE CHARMING — NOT BEAUTIFUL — OUGHT TO BE WOMAN'S GOAL.

By Margaret Illington

TWO VIEWS OF MARGARET ILLINGTON'S FACE, SHOWING HOW IT IS CHARM, RATHER THAN BEAUTY, WHICH MAKES HER LOVELY.

(By Margaret Illington.)

Whenever you pick up a newspaper nowadays and turn to the woman's page you are very apt to get an idea that every woman is seeking physical beauty—and nothing else.

So many pretty actresses in the country are telling all the other women the means by which they were made beautiful, the means by which they stay beautiful and the means by which they hope to keep their beauty until death does them part.

Sometimes I think that men are more interested in these "beauty chats" than are the women, for the editors are so anxious to print all this beauty talk. My women friends tell me they do not have time to read it, as women who have some work of the world to do cannot selfishly spend long hours daily in making themselves beautiful to the eye alone.

Least of all, I am sure, does the actress have time or inclination to be trying always to improve her pulchritude.

Of course, she must look as well and keep as healthy as possible, for every actress will agree with Charlotte Cushman that "to make a success in one's art one must have perfect health and a wonderful store of vitality, as well as a logical mind, nerves as taut as steel, but attuned to the slightest emotion and a heart big enough to sympathize with the whole great world."

I hardly think, however, that it is necessary for her to take a course in therapeutics or cosmetic surgery.

Few successful actresses have been beauties, but they have all been women of great force of character and splendid health.

But it makes no difference if the successful actress never had a pimple on her nose in her life. You can't make a deal little housewife, who admires her fervently, think otherwise than that she is just the one to advise all about the cause and cure of every beauty ill.

Here is the truth—actresses have no open sesame to the vaults where beauty is stored. They are much like other women and they often do things in regard to their health which they ought not to do and do not do things which they ought to do.

Clever actresses, like other clever women, find out what kind of food, exercise and how much sleep, work and play is good for them and then plan their daily regime upon this.

Actresses, however, know no more about making themselves beautiful than any other class of women. Neither are they naturally more beautiful.

"Beauty is in the eye of the beholder," and I am sure every woman has proven this true, for she is unfortunate, indeed, as well as unique, if she has not known some one person to whom she was beautiful.

Personally, I do not think that physical beauty is as much to be desired as many other things. Beauty is the most ephemeral of all the qualities that enhance the charm of femininity and I think if most women would avoid the silly trying to make themselves over into something they are not and strive to becomes interesting, they would retain popularity longer.

And isn't popularity, after all, the thing we really want?

Some of us want to be popular with the public and some of us are content just to be popular with our home folks. But in the end, popularity is the goal, and I don't believe a preponderance of flesh, a freckle on one's nose or even a slight cast in one's eye, is going to militate against it.

If you make yourself interesting you can snap your fingers at beauty blemishes and make those about you love and admire you so much that they will consider the flesh, the freckle and the cast among your greatest attractions.

THE NEW FALL FASHIONS.

(By Maybelle Mortimer.)

The autumn styles are exceedingly picturesque, but they do not show startling changes from the summer modes.

Gowns are caught up either in front or back so that they will accentuate the so-called natural figure which is flat in the back and slightly rounded from below the bust to knees in front.

All the velvety pile clothes will be worn much and the wool velvets are particularly beautiful. The French call them "peau de peche" and in truth they are as velvets as the "skin of a peach."

Tailored gowns will be worn more this winter than last, but instead of the conventional shirt waist the Russian blouse effects in plaids and bright colors will be worn with black, gray or brown skirts.

Black promises to be the most popular of all colors for tailored frocks with brown and dark blue coming next.

Young women will wear plaids, but they must be worn with great discretion to give a chic effect.

Fur will be worn more than ever; evening gowns as well as street dresses being profusely trimmed with it. All kinds of fur will be used and as the higher grades are so expensive as to be almost prohibitive, the cheaper grades will be very popular even with the best dressers.

Hats will be larger and turned back from the face—a rather trying fashion.

The "slash" will remain with us. All tailored skirts will be slashed somewhere about the hem. Shoes and stockings will match the gowns except when black is worn, then one may expect to see fancy hose with black low shoes.

Fancy waistcoats will be worn much with dark coats and skirt and belts. Sashes will be seen on almost all gowns.

We Believe in Taking the Public Into Our Confidence

When we put on our auto delivery service it was not done for advertising purposes—no indeed. The one dominating reason for making the added investment was that we wanted to give our patrons better service. We are firm believers that the only way to build business is to give service. We were getting along nicely with horses and wagons but at times our patrons would give us the sign of distress, the "hurry-up" call. It takes time to go across the city with a horse,—so exit the horse on the rush calls—unless he happens to be headed in that direction. Now we can handle them and we don't care how fast they come.—Try us for speed.

Just buying an auto is not where we stopped though—some people may think that to just go out and get a car with an engine that would run would end the matter.

Not so with us. We selected a car and had it specially decorated in keeping with our business, our windows, plant and office, one which in appearance is a credit to our city and one which "lends tone" when it drives up to your door. But that is only incidental and consistent with our general plans. The important part is that we had built a special dust-proof body for the car, the compartment carrying the garments for delivery being entirely closed off to itself with only one opening at the back. This insures your garments being delivered sweet and clean just as they come out of our dust-proof cases. We had a special rack arrangement built into this car so that the garments hang free from the floor and can not pack against one another causing wrinkles.

All these things require thought and additional investment but it means that we have faith in the growth of our city and that the public will patronize us when they know what we are doing in our effort to give them the best service possible. It is our intention that Fort Wayne shall have as fine a plant and as perfect, up-to-date service as any city in this country.

The growth of our business so far justifies our expenditures and encourages us to plan more.

ABOUT THE ATHLETIC GIRL.

The athletic girl is being discussed at great length just now, and the only remark, it seems, that has not already been made about her is that she holds herself so extremely badly. There are, of course, exceptions, but it is only too evident that in the matter of figure she follows the example of the athletic young man of the moment, who pokes his shoulders forward and adopts a slouching gait. This is not only very ugly both in man and in girl, but it is extremely bad for the health. To poke the shoulders forward is to be guilty of a distinct injustice to the lungs. The good old rule was, "Chest forward, head up, chin and waist in." This appears to be forgotten now, and the more athletic girls are, the more lamentable are their figure gait. So far as fashion is concerned, their appearance is scarcely improved by the careless style of their dress, with blouse loose and baggy, overtight skirt, and shoes that may be comfortable but very certainly are not ornamental. No one expects that comfort should be sacrificed to appearance, after all "there is a medium in everything," and the ugly medium by many degrees. It is never wise to sacrifice feminity to fads, and that the ultra-athletic girl is a faddist cannot be denied even by her most ardent admirers.

ONE HUNDRED ARE ENROLLED.

Domestic art, gymnastic training and domestic science are being taught at the new school. All of the girls enrolled are over seventeen years old, which is required by law governing night schools.

The enrollment in the vocational department of the public schools at the Washington school yesterday was only twelve pupils. There are six instructors at the new school and a much larger attendance can be handled. It is thought that many more children will enroll within a few days. The course of work was explained by the instructors in the department at all of the city schools yesterday. Pupils must be over fourteen years of age and past the fifth grade to enter the vocational department.

OFENLOCH SISTERS. 8-2t

(By Caroline Coe.)

Fruit desserts are far more wholesome and enjoyable at this season than are the heavy pastries and puddings of the winter bill of fare. They also require less time and labor in preparation, thus proving an inestimable boon to the housewife during the months when kitchen work is the hardest.

In my opinion, the peach heads the list of summer fruits in point of healthfulness and delicious flavor, and certainly none lends itself to greater variety in serving.

Peach Snow.

Dissolve one-fourth box of gelatine in half cup of boiling water, after soaking until soft in a very little cold water. Add one and one-half cups of cold water, the juice of a lemon, one-half cupful of sugar and the same of peach pulp which has been forced through a potato ricer or a colander. When the mixture begins to harden whip in lightly the stiffly beaten whites of five eggs and turn into individual molds. Serve in sherbet glasses, garnishing each portion with slices of peach and a single ripe blackberry. Macaroons may form the accompaniment.

Peach Custard.

Fill sundae glasses about a quarter full of chopped peach, and then nearly to the top with soft custard. When ready to serve cover each portion with sweetened whipped cream and invert half of a chilled peach in the center.

Peach Blanc Mange.

Make a peach jelly by thickening a cupful of peach pulp with one and three-fourths tablespoonfuls of gelatine dissolved in a little water and added sugar and lemon juice to taste. Mold in a singel layer between two of plain blanc mange. Turn out upon a plate, garnish the top with half of a fresh peach and decorate the base with a border of alternate peach slices and candied cherries.

Pickled Peaches.

Peel and weigh your fruit. Clingstone peaches are best. To every five pounds of fruit allow two and one-half pounds of light brown sugar, one pint of vinegar, ten cloves, three sticks of cinnamon and a blade or two of mace. Let peaches lie in this syrup for two hours. Drain and put juice over fire. Boil rapidly. Skin all scum that rises. When no more scum appears put in enough fruit to fill one can and boil for seven minutes if the peaches are firm and if they are nearly ripe boil only five minutes. Remove peaches from syrup and place on platter and allow to cool. Add the spice to the syrup and boil at least fifteen minutes longer or until a heavy syrup is produced. Pack cool peaches in glass jars, pour boiling syrup over them and seal at once.

Peach Trifle.

Peel and slice enough peaches to make one quart. Put one cup of sugar and one cup of water into sauce pan and boil. Add peaches and six or eight stones. Boil until tender. Set aside to cool, then press through a colander. Line a dish with stale sponge cake soaked in some of the peach syrup, spread over them the peach pulp. When ready to serve cover with one pint of heavy cream sweetened and whipped. If desired add one-half teaspoon of vanilla.

Peach Gelatine.

Soak one box of gelatine in one cup of cold water. Boil one and one-half cups of sugar and one cup of water and the rind of half a lemon for ten minutes. Pour hot syrup over gelatine and stir until dissolved. Put one pint of sliced peaches in mold and add half a cup of blanched almonds. Fill mold with syrup and chill. Serve with whipped cream.

Peach Fancies.

This simple but delicious dainty is a combination of lemon sherbet and sliced peaches, served in glasses and garnished with green minted cherries.

Peach Compote.

Peel and slice two dozen ripe peaches. Make syrup of one cup of water and one cup of sugar. Add four small pieces of stick cinnamon. When sugar is all dissolved and boiling add peaches. Boil slowly until clear and tender. Serve cold with meat.

Peach Marmalade.

Peel peaches and remove stones. To six quarts of fruit add one quart of water and put in preserving kettle and cook for one hour. Stir almost constantly so it may not burn. Add three quarts of granulated sugar and boil one hour longer, stirring so as not to burn. The marmalade should be thick, smooth and glossy at the end of this time. Put in small glasses or jars and seal at once.

The best way to reach them is to place your "For Rent" ad. in the paper that the tenants read. In Fort Wayne nearly everyone takes The Sentinel and reads Sentinel want ads.

FOUR TIME GOLF CHAMPION

JEROME TRAVERS—KING OF AMERICA'S AMATEUR GOLFERS.

JEROME TRAVERS, AMATEUR GOLF CHAMPION, 1907-8, 1912-13.

Experience and class told in the national amateur golf championship at Garden City, L. I., when Jerome D. Travers won the national title for the fourth time, succeeding himself in the position.

Travers defeated J. G. Anderson, of Boston, in the final round, 5 up and 4 to play. He was easily the class of a large field and was out of danger when the brilliant but unsteady Chicagoan, Charles Evans, jr., blew up in the semi-final round.

JOE STANLEY TO STICK FOR 1914

Will Manage Springfield Again if Club is in the Central.

PEOPLE ARE FOR HIM

Springfield, O., Sept. 9.—Manager Joe Stanley signed a contract with President Sol Meyer, of the Reapers, for next season at the conference held yesterday in Indianapolis. Local fans will welcome the announcement as he is the most popular leader who ever wore a local uniform.

Right from the start he became an idol and his popularity, if such a thing was possible, increased with each game. The fans were with him all the way. He is considered by fans here the best outfielder that ever performed in the Central league. In fielding and throwing he is believed to have overshadowed the other gardeners.

If Stanley could hit just a little better he would be a star in the big show. It was his first attempt at directing a club and he certainly delivered the goods. While the fans enjoyed his playing they admired his methods in handling his men, and Joe convinced them that he knows baseball.

There is nothing new in the announcement that this city will have a team next year. President Meyer made the statement several months ago that it was up to the fans whether or not the city would stick in the Central league. He added that he would furnish them with Ohio State league ball if they failed to patronize the team this year.

Even if the South Bend people want a team there next year it is doubtful if the other club owners would vote to place a franchise there. They have had enough of South Bend in the past.

ADENOIDS ARE A MENACE TO CHILDREN.

Babies and young children must be carefully watched for the growth of adenoids, which spoil the mental and physical life of a child. They usually result rom a succession of colds and throat irritations, and their presence is so productive of harm, that many school boards have an examining physician to detect them. The conditions that cause them may be easily avoided by careful parents. Quickly and thoroughly cure all colds and throat irritation by the use of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound, and adenoids will not develop. Dreier Drug Co.—Adv.

WHEELING TO BE RIGHT IN CLASS

Talked of as Possibility in Organization of Small Cities.

AKRON WANTS BERTH

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 9.—Reports are being received from Charleston and other points down state indicating that a new baseball league with Wheeling, Parkersburg, Huntington and Charleston forming the nucleus, is a probability next season. The agitation in favor of banding such a circuit together follows the announcement that Parkersburg wants to get back into the Ohio State league next year. The proposal is to make the new league a class C organization.

It was definitely announced last night from Columbus, the headquarters of the Ohio State league officers, that negotiations have been attempted by Parkersburg baseball promoters for the berth in the Ohio State for next season. The announcement confirmed a rumor which has been prevalent for some time.

It is not improbable that if a vacancy occurs in the Ohio State league which would admit Parkersburg, Wheeling may apply for a berth also. In case the formation of a new league with the four West Virginia cities as a starter, with a refilling of vacancies in the Ohio State which would be left by such a move, would be likely.

Parkersburg is a good baseball town, as was demonstrated in the old Mountain State league. A fast semi-professional team has been the only solace of the fans in that city during the past season.

Rumors that the Maysville club of the Ohio State league will enter the Blue Grass league if that unhappy organization comes to life next season, come simultaneously with the report that arrangements are being attempted by backers of the league idea at Parkersburg to take over the franchise of the Burley Cubs. The Cubs are said to be ready to quit at the close of the season, the support of the team, it is reported, being not sufficient to warrant its backers in undertaking its rejuvenation in the spring of 1914.

If Parkersburg is admitted into the Ohio State league traveling expenses of the league would be greatly increased. Practically 275 miles lies between Parkersburg and Hamilton, and a greater distance between that city and Chillicothe or Lexington.

WILL TALK IT OVER.

Akron, O., Sept. 9—The fate of Akron baseball in 1914 will not be decided until the American baseball commission meets in Columbus in November. Until after that date it will not be know whether or not Akron will have professional ball next year or not.

Akron boosters, mainly stockholders in the defunct team in the Interstate league, will attend the meeting in the hopes of starting a first-class league in which Akron can get a berth.

Unless the rubber city can get into a league with seven other good towns no action will be taken.

AVOID THE BRONCHIAL COUGHS OF EARLY FALL.

The changeable weather of early fall brings on bronchitis and a hard cough that is wearing on the system, and seems to tear open the bronchial tubes and mucus lining of the throat. Use Foley's Honey and Tar Compound promptly. For it will soothe and heal the inflamed mucus lining, relieve the cough quickly, and help to expel the cold. It contains no opiates. DAYTON PLAYERS HAVE SORE ARMS

Three Members of Dayton Team Will Go to See Dr. Reese.

UNDER A HANDICAP

Dayton, O., Sept. 9.—Manager Johnny Nee, Frank Armstrong and Bill Warren, of the Dayton team of 1913, have gone to Youngstown for consultations with Dr. Reese and they depend largely upon the outcome of their treatment at the hands of the bonesetter for their success in baseball during the season of 1914.

All were troubled with sore throwing arms most of the season. They have each suffered untold pain from ligaments that are out of place, but each believes that Reese can fix him up so that all will be in good shape next year.

After he fixes up a stray ligament Reese generally advises a player to give the member a long rest before using it, and for that reason Nee, Armstrong and Warren waited until the end of the season to visit him. They will have him fix their arms and then let them rest all winter. By next spring each should have a good arm again and be ready for a hard season.

These sore arms have been a big handicap to the Vets this year. At no time since early in the season have the Vets had a catching staff capable of throwing. Armstrong's trouble is located in the elbow and Warren's a little higher up. Being compelled to throw with sore arms took much of the life out of these fellows' work. They simply didn't feel like playing ball and didn't have the zepper. Armstrong had his arm fixed several times, but did not give it rest enough and no good was accomplished.

Nee's trouble is located in his shoulder. He knocked something out of place in sliding and has never been right since.

These injuries, combined with the countless others the Vets sustained this year, wrecked what hopes Nee had in his first year as a manager but he has made good in the face of adversity and is certainly entitled to the management of the club next year. Armstrong and Warren, with their arms fixed, ought to make a swell catching staff. Warren declares he will never put in another such a season as he did this year.

"I'll either have my arm right or I won't play ball," Bill says.

Arista DeHaven may also follow his sore-armed mates to Youngstown and let Reese work on the knee. He has a ligament out on the under side of his knee and it would be best for him to have it out right this fall as he is getting at the age where a stubborn muscle might slow him up considerably.

Every man on the team was glad the season's end is at hand. Every form of an injury possible to ball players has visited the team this year. Sykes is the only player who has played every game, and he has been in harness several times when he was anything but right.

The Birdman Who Flies Upside Down

AVIATOR POGOUD, who at Jusisy, France, Sept. 1 made his remarkable head downward flight of a quarter of a mile, to demonstrate the scientific proof of Bleriot's theory that a properly constructed aeroplane cannot capsize in the air; that blown by the wind in any position, a machine can always be righted by the pilot; also that it never loses its flying capacity, even if it is completely overturned. The monoplane in which the daring aviator made the most hazardous aviation feat ever attempted, was an ordinary one with a 50 horsepower Rhome motor.

Jess Willard and Tom Jones and One of the Ham-Like Hands That Got Both of Them in Trouble.

These photographs were taken when Willard met Bauer here, and the hand was placed over the dial of a twelve-inch clock on the stage of the Majestic theater to indicate the reach of the fingers.

FRIENDS FEARED THAT BAD RIGHT

Followers of Jess Willard Knew Force of Wicked Uppercut.

FIGHTER HELD OVER

Peculiar local interest attaches to the case of big Jess Willard in Fort Wayne from the fact that his first tryout of note was made here against John Young, for whose death he was held yesterday at Los Angeles on a charge of second degree murder.

Willard's chief stock in trade was a wicked right uppercut and his friends here freely predicted that if he ever landed it squarely on any fighter on earth it would be taps for the fellow that stopped the blow. It proved true in the case of Young, who was not shifty enough to get out of the way, although any boxer of experience could easily tell when it was coming, and there were few of them who could not sidestep or block it.

Tom McCarey was also held with Willard as was Tom Jones. Jones was here when Willard met Bauer here and most ripped his nose off with that same uppercut, and at that time was dickering for the management of the rangy fighter in the belief that he could land him some matches that would make both of them good money. Others held are:

Al Greenwald, promoter; Tom Jones, Willard's manager; Harry Gilmore, jr., Young's manager; Al Harder, timekeeper; Charles Exton, referee; Walter Monahan, John Davies, Charles Anslinger, James Cameron and Eddie Webster, seconds.

In addition to the charge of murder in the second degree, charges of prize fighting rest against the accused twelve. The bonds of $5,000 for Willard and $1,500 for each of the others were left unchanged.

In the hearing just ended counsel for the defendants made a futile attempt to prove that the death of John Young, following the knockout scored by Willard, was not caused by a blow but by a wound on the brain inflicted accidentally by one of the surgeons who operated upon the injured fighter's skull. The prosecution on the other hand succeeded in having the twelve men held for trial on the murder charge instead of the original charge of simple manslaughter placed against them.

FABRIQUE STANDS IN GOOD.

Charged With Bad Judgment but Said to Be Popular With the Patrons.

A Providence paper says of Bunny Fabrique:

"Fabrique gave the Tigers a run in the seventh inning of the second game when he had a chance for a force-out. With the bases clogged, Gagnier hit a sharp grounder at Fabrique, who made a fine stop. He looked toward the plate, and apparently decided that he could not head off Higgins, who was scurrying for the platter, as he made the play at first. From the stand it looked as if his throw to Kocher would have beaten Higgins by several feet. Fabrique is in right with the fans, however, being one of the niftiest shortstoppers who has tended the field for Providence since Roy Rock's palmy days."

JUSTICE NOW IN CHARGE OF TEAM

Charlie Babb Let Out at Omaha to Cut Down Expenses.

NO FAULT IS FOUND

Eddie Justice, for two years shortstop on the Fort Wayne ball team, and drafted by Cleveland for the Omaha team, is acting manager of his club, succeeding Charlie Babb, who was let out last night to cut down expenses for the remainder of the year.

President William O'Rourke stated that his only reason for dispensing with the services of Babb was to cut down expenses for the remainder of the season and that no fault was found with his work.

Omaha is in fifth place in the Western league race, with a bare chance for second, and there is little opportunity for the club to make any more money before the close of the season.

He had his greatest year in baseball the last season he played in Fort Wayne, and his selection is possibly a forerunner of his appointment next season as playing manager.

A VEGETABLE MADE $150,000 FOR A SINGER

A young European singer, who had suffered with indigestion, with the help of a famous French doctor (who told him of a vegetable having marvelous digestive properties) made a sauce containing this vegetable, which he used with his food and in the cooking. It was pronounced by the best cooks in Europe as a sauce unexcelled. The sauce was made by a company who paid the singer for the wonderful recipe. So great and immediate has been the success of Waw-Waw that it is to be found in all parts of the world. A few years ago the famous Waw-Waw was unknown in America, yet now it is to be found in the principal hotels, railroads and homes throughout this country. It adds zest and piquancy when used in the cooking, and added to soups, salads, hot and cold meats and fish it is unequalled, and at the same time you will see how easily you can digest anything. It is absolutely unlike all other sauces. Although resembling in taste a Worcestershire, yet the ingredients used are quite different. Waw-Waw (an obsolete South American word for vegetable) is purely vegetable and is guaranteed absolutely pure. Miss Rita Jolivet, the wonderful actress, writes: "The best sauce I have ever tasted and helps my digestion wonderfully." A 25-cent bottle from your local grocer will soon convince you how much more you will enjoy your food, and how easily you can digest anything and everything.

G. A. R. "BOYS" WILL HOLD REUNION ON SOUTHERN BATTLEFIELDS THAT RAN RED WITH BLOOD 50 YEARS AGO.

GEN. ALFRED B. BEERS, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF OF G. A. R.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 9.—The soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic are about to begin their first peaceful invasion of the south. And the old confederate state of Tennessee, particularly the southern city of Chattanooga, is about to receive them as welcome guests.

To the south the annual encampment of the G. A. R. to be held here September 15 to 20 marks a new era even more decisively than the recent reunion of union and confederate veterans on the field of Gettysburg.

It proves that there is no bitterness left when the people of the south freely give their hospitality to their old enemies and receive them as friends on the fields where they once fought.

The camping ground itself is a memorable one, perhaps richer in war interest than any other that could have been chosen in the south. For a few miles from here "Gettysburg of the west" was fought, when Rosecrans and Bragg clashed at Chickamauga in the bloodiest two days' fighting of modern times and 34,000 men, a third of the forces engaged, were killed, wounded or missing.

The last day of the encampment will be the fiftieth anniversary of that battle.

Closer at hand are scenes of the two months' campaign that followed, when the defeated union army was besieged and apparently doomed in Chattanooga until Grant battered the siege lines to fragments and drove the confederates south into Georgia.

Overlooking the city is famous Lookout mountain, where Hooker drove the confederates from their entrenchments in the "battle above the clouds." Not far away is Orchard Knob, where the tide first turned in Grant's favor. And near by is Missionary Ridge, up which the union troops charged in wild disregard of orders, sweeping past the lines of south rifle pits and hurling the enemy back till the "doomed" Army of the Cumberland was victorious and a way was opened into the heart of the south.

Easily reached from Chattanooga are Kennesaw mountain and many another battlefield which the northern soldiers will see for the first time since they struggled there half a century ago.

The field of Chickamauga, now a national park, the site of Fort Oglethorpe, where a brigade of troops is stationed, will be the chief attraction. Probably no other battlefield has ever been so well preserved, beautified and marked with monuments. The roads, now of macadam, are as they lay fifty years ago, and the events of the battle are shown in many hundred tablets, granite shafts and steel observation towers.

The entertainment plans are in keeping with the importance of the event. On the Chickamauga field there will be a great sham battle, fought by regular troops of the United tSates army, with the veterans as spectators—the first entertainment of the sort ever given.

Another beautiful and spectacular feature will be a reproduction of the "battle of the clouds" in fireworks at night, on the summit of Lookout mountain, 1,500 feet above the valley and visible for 100 miles in every direction.

Signal fires will be lighted every evening on Signal Point, north of the city, reproducing fires that burned there during the campaign of 1863, visible from every part of the city. A large hotel has been built near Signal Point for the accommodation of veterans.

There will be a steamboat reception and dinner to visiting G. A. R. officials, and hydroplane exhibitions will be given every day.

A novel feature will be a model of the Panama canal, with small steamboats going through the locks just as the big ocean liners will be at Panama.

There will be a special reunion for the Army of the Cumberland and many regimental and brigade reunions.

TRAIN CLIMBER SEVERELY HURT

Rendered Unconscious by Fall from Flyer's Engine at Gay Street.

RODE ALL NIGHT ON LOCOMOTIVE TENDER

Comrade Arrested and in Jail to Answer to Charges Sept. 16.

James Heffely is in the St. Joseph hospital and Robert Till is in jail awaiting the recovery of the former from injuries sustained when they jumped from the tender of the engine pulling the Pennsylvania Broadway limited as it was passing under the Gay street bridge early this morning. Till got off in safety, but Heffely fell as he struck the ground and was rendered unconscious by his head striking the ties of the adjoining track. In that condition he was picked up and placed in the city ambulance and hurried to St. Joseph hospital, where it developed that he suffered from slight concussion of the brain and numerous bruises and contusions on the head and face.

Till was immediately arrested on the charge of train climbing and as a witness to the accident, and at police court this morning his case was continued until September 16, when it is expected Heffely will have so far recovered as to be able to appear also and answer to a similar charge. The boys are sixteen years old and their parents reside in Allegheny. They left that city late yesterday afternoon on the tender of the flyer's engine, intending to ride to Chicago. They escaped discovery until they reached this city and would not then have been discovered had one of them not been hurt in lighting from the engine at Gay street. They seemed to be familiar with the conditions of the yards here and knew that the flyer would slow up at Hanna street for the Wabash crossing and that if they rode into the station they would be arrested by the Pennsylvania police. Unfortunately they did not wait long enough and one came to grief when he jumped from the train. The parents of the boys have been notified and will probably come after them. Engineer Michael Lacey and Fireman D. Shipley, who brought the flyer down from Crestline, did not know of the presence of the boys on the rear of the tender nor of the accident until told of it afterwards.

MANY GOING TO MONTPELIER.

Wabash Safety Committee Meeting There an Attraction to All.

A partial canvass of the shops and yards in this city has developed a great interest in the doings at Montpelier, O., next Monday night of the Wabash safety committee. This gathering is to be a joint affair of the employes of the Peru and the Detroit divisions and it is not confined to the members of the committee, but employes generally are invited to attend and bring their wives and children, for the social part is to be an important feature. Special trains will be run from Peru and from Toledo to accommodate those who go to the meeting and the train over this division will pass through Fort Wayne about 4:50 o'clock Monday evening. Word has been given out at the shops that all who wish to go to Montpelier on that occasion will be provided with transportation for themselves and families.

PERKINS FAILED TO SHOW UP.

Union Labor Delegates Turned Out to Greet Him.

For a reason not yet ascertained, E. A. Perkins, chief of the Indiana bureau of buildings and inspection, failed to make an appearance at the meeting of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor last evening, where he was expected to make an address. It is supposed that Mr. Perkins failed to make train connections, as he was anxious to fill the engagement. The meeting was one of the best of the summer, all of the delegates being present and a number of others, attracted by the interesting matter to come before the board, as well as a desire to see and hear Mr. Perkins. He will speak at a later meeting.

Reccommend $65 Rate to 'Frisco.

Rates to San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915 is becoming an interesting question in passenger circles. The matter will come before the meeting of the passenger association in Chicago to be held October 1. It is said that the majority of the traffic managers of the western lines favor a round trip rate of $65 from Chicago. Figured on this basis, the rate from Fort Wayne will be about $71, which has been the standard when cheap rates to the coast have been made. That was the rate on the occasion of the Shriners' meeting in Los Angeles a year ago last May.

STEAM HAMMERS OUT OF COMMISSION.

The bursting of the water pipes that feed the boilers for the three big steam hammers in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop cut off the water supply at noon yesterday and the machinery had to be closed down until this afternoon, when a large force of men under Water Works Foreman William Bittler completed the work of putting in new sections of the pipe. The men affected by the accident were James Trythall, Samuel Dunbar and Owen Barry and their assistants.

GONE TO JOIN COMRADES.

Captain Thomas Toomey, who has attended every reunion of the Thirtieth regiment, will also attend the one at Milford this week. He left this morning, accompanied by Mrs. Toomey, for that place. Captain Toomey participated in all the battles in which the Thirtieth figured in the stirring times ow the 60s and he loves to meet his old comrades and talk over those scenes.

MANY ENGINEMEN REPORT.

The report list of engineers and firemen of the Pennsylvania who had been off duty on account of business, sickness or other reasons, was distinguished today by being the largest in many months. It contained eighteen names. Among them was the name of Fireman E. H. Epler, who had been out of the city over a month.

INSPECTING SUB-DIVISION D.

Supt. W. M. Wardrop and his staff officers are out on an inspection trip over the Chicago end of the western division today, riding in the division special train.

The Grand Rapids and Indiana has ordered sixty steel gondolas from the Cambria Steel company and eighty-five flat cars from the Pressed Steel Car company.

Pipefitter E. J. Wefel, of the Wabash shops, had his left hand painfully cut between the thumb and fingers yesterday afternoon. After the member was dressed he pluckily returned to work.

Tom Miles, crossing watchman at the Fourth street crossing of the Lake Shore, now operates the safety gates from the tower recently erected, instead of from the ground, as formerly. Frank Flaherty, son of Foreman James Flaherty, of the telegraph and telephone line department of the Pennsylvania, has resigned as messenger for Foreman H. T. Hogan, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, to resume his studies at school. Lake Shore Operator O. M. Ramy has resumed work after a vacation visit with relatives at Lafayette.

PISTOL DUEL FATAL TO BOTH.

Postmaster and Constable Kill Each Other at Farris, Okla.

Antlers, Okla., Sept. 9.—C. B. Taylor, postmaster at Farris, Okla., and Bert Stevens, a constable, are dead as the result of a pistol duel in which they engaged on the streets of Farris last night.

Two years ago two men went to Taylor's home and after calling him out attacked him and inflicted injuries which kept him under a physician's care for three months. Taylor accused Stevens of being one of his assailants. Since then both men have threatened to shoot each other on sight. When they met last night both began shooting and each fell, fatally wounded. Both died soon afterward.

FOREMN C. L. COOPER AND A PART OF HIS FORCE AT NICKEL PLATE ROUND HOUSE.

Some time ago The Sentinel published a half-tone picture of some of the men engaged in roundhouse work for the Pennsylvania, and above is a portrait of some of the men engaged in the same work at the roundhouse of the Nickel Plate, including the general foreman, Charles L. Cooper. Each has been employed by the company a number of years and their combined services will approximate 340 years. Possibly the oldest in point of service is H. L. Reed, the chief clerk at the roundhouse, whose portrait is first on the left side of the front row. Next Mr. Reed in the front row is Henry A. Uhenhake, the caller, while the figure to the right in the front row is Charles L. Cooper, the general foreman, who previous to taking charge of the office here was employed in the shops at Stony Island a number of years. He is a Fort Wayne man, however, and resided here many years before going to Stony Island. Standing in the rear, reading from left to right, are Henry Kohrman, boilermaker; Bert Williams, boilermakers' helper; W. Mutter, coal crane engineer, and C. A. Kiger, cab man. The snapshot of which this picture is a reproduction was made without any previous arrangement and it does not represent only a very small portion of Foreman Cooper's forces.

MARSHALL HATES NAUGHTY DANCES

SCORES SLIT SKIRT

Washington, Sept. 9.—Vice President Marshall made his debut in Washington as a camp meeting speaker. He addressed the Southern Methodist camp meeting at Great Falls.

The vice president drew on the turkey trot, the tango, the slit skirt and social conditions as the basis for his "philosophy of life." He compared the teachings of Christ with those of Thomas Jefferson, the "greatest American;" urged a closer observance of the old-fashioned principles of religion, and alid the blame for many of the existing evils of society to the laxity of parents in training children, and to the principle of "the survival of the fittest."

"I believe in my Bible as it is," said the vice president, "but, if I could, there would be one promise I should change, and for the sake of justice I would reverse the one to read: 'The sins of the children shall be visited on their parents.'

"It is time for American fathers and mothers to have opinions on religion. You wonder why the turkey trot, the tango and the split skirt exist. I say it is because the mothers of this country are not interested in their children.

"I want the right to sit in my narrow little upholstered Presbyterian pew and worship in my narrow little way, and I am willing to give you the whole outside world to shout your Methodist hallelujahs.

"This country of ours is living today a beautiful, practical Christian life in many ways—in many ways, I say—but there's too much tendency for men to counsel with sharp lawyers as to what they can do and still keep out of jail."

PICTURE UNITES A FAMILY.

Printed in Paper, Recovers Lost Girl and Reconciles Parents.

Scranton, Pa., Sept. 9.—Recognized by a picture printed in a New York paper, Miss Maude Belle Colville, the missing high school girl, for whom the police of New York and this city have been looking the past four months, was not only restored to her mother, but it is likely that heresecapade will lead to the reconciliation with her father, who has been estranged from the mother for more than three years.

Mrs. A. McPherson, of New York, saw the picture of Miss Colville and recognized in it a likeness to the maid whom she had engaged some two months previous and who said her parents were dead. She communicated wtih the authorities, with the result that the mother of the girl once more clasped her in her arms.

SPOONERS MUST CARRY LIGHT.

Duluth, Miss., Sept. 9.—Too late to spoil any "spooning" parties on the lake this year, but in time to fortify themselves for coming seasons, the police have discovered a law that will dispose of canoeists who have made the lake and bay perform the duties of a bench in the park. Without laws or police surveillance the "spooners" thought themselves safe from view, but admiralty laws covering lake navigation show that craft of all kinds must carry a light that is visible at least 100 yards away. Interpretations of the ruling cover the lighting of rowboats and canoes as well. A light that can be seen for 100 yards suits the police and an old-fashioned lantern will do, they say.

AFTERMATH OF EAST SIDE RIOT.

Two Foreigners in Court on Assault and Battery Charges.

As an aftermath of the riot in the east side Sunday night by some Polish residents, Joe Fritz and Esig Osalinski were before the city court this morning on charges of assault and battery, filed by the Poles who were fined yesterday morning for disorderly conduct. There was no evidence taken in the cases today, as they were continued until tomorrow morning.

A trio of young fellows were picked up by the Nickel Plate police force last night for trespassing on the property of the company and in the city court they explained that they hailed from Leipsic, Ohio, and wanted to go back, so Judge Mungovan gave them the chance. They gave their names as Charles Klug, Guy Clark and Russell Tustison.

Gus Wiebke has been worshipping the flowing bowl too zealously for several days and relatives asked the court to give him a jail sentence. He got fifteen days.

ELOPE TO HILLSDALE.

Oliver Schroeder, of 1727 Wheeler street, a knitter at the Thieme silk mills, and Miss Frances Branning, 3224 Harrison street, eloped to Hillsdale, Mich., and were married there Sunday, Aug. 31, returning home on Labor day. The young couple will reside in Fort Wayne.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. BUILDING A RAILROAD ALL BY HIMSELF

The Jim Hill of Kansas is Doing All His Own Work on a Railroad That Runs from Nowhere to Noplace.

RUDOLPH MEYER, RAILROAD BUILDER, AND HIS CONSTRUCTION CAMP AND EQUIPMENT.

Dodge City, Kan., Sept. 9.—Out on the prairie to the northwest is being built the strangest railroad in America. One man is building it all by himself, and it runs from nowhere to nowhere.

Rudolph Meyer is the promoter, president, purchasing agent, civil engineer, superintendent, construction boss, crew, mule skinner and water boy.

There are no trains running yet. There isn't even any track laid. But there are five miles of perfectly good grade ready for the ties and rails, and there will be more of it as long as Meyers' money, mules and strength last. What the purpose is nobody knows but Meyer, and he won't tell.

In the spring of 1908 this old German appeared in the Spring Creek valley, north of the Hodgman county line, and asked a farmer to sell him a strip of land for a railroad right of way. He declared that he was the sole builder of the line and was not backed by any railroad company.

The wondering farmer sold him the land and he started to work with a team of mules, a wagon and one scraper. In a year or so he finished the grade on the strip he had bought and purchased more land from the neighboring farmers to continue his line.

Year after year he has toiled on, pushing ahead with his leveling, cutting, and filling, absolutely alone, with his single mule team and scraper, and whenever he has reached the end of his right of way he has demanded the next strip of land and paid the price.

It is a tremendous job that this man has tackled single-handed. One of his fills is seventy feet high—a great dike of dirt hauled into place slowly, month after month, a little scraperful at a time. Just ahead of him is another deep depression to fill up, and beyond that rises a high hill that has to be cut through.

"That's all right," says Meyer. "It's level further on."

When asked why he chose this location for a railroad, he answers, "Oh, I just picked out an easy place to build one."

The roadbed runs in a northeasterly direction and if it were being built in the usual way, by railroad men, the purpose would seem to be the connection of Dodge City, several miles to the southwest, with Jetmore, a village to the northeast. The Santa Fe has a branch to Jetmore, running west from Great Bend, and this connection would make a loop with the main line. But Meyer declares he has nothing at all to do with the Santa Fe, and his peculiar methods seem to bear him out.

He lives alone in a little cook shack, which he moves along as the work advances. When the weather is fine he works all day, and when the ground is frozen or water-soaked he loafs in his shack.

Meyer is trying now to buy some more right of way, and the owners are holding him up, hoping to force him to tell his real plans. But Meyer just plugs along patiently, without saying a word and apparently without worrying.

"They can't stop this railroad," he says.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Bearish predictions regarding the government crop report tended today to make the wheat market easy. The opening was the same as last night to ⅛c lower.

The close was easy at ¼c to ⅞c net decline.

Quite general rains weakened corn. First sales varied from ⅛@¼c lower to ⅜c advance.

The close was unsettled, varying from ½c under last night to ⅛@¼c advance.

Although trading in oats was light, prices held relatively firm. Buying on the part of a leading house furnished support.

Provisions developed strength with hogs. The ensuing advance was general but increasing offers kept the upturn moderate.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, Sept. 9.—Most of the leading stocks declined at the opening today. New York Central and California Petroleum with losses of a point each, were heavier. Trading was light and the downward drift was slow, with recessions limited to small fractions in a majority of cases.

Reports of rains in the southwest failed to strengthen the stock market owing to the general expectation of a decidedly unfavorable showing in the government report on corn, late in the day. Grain prices were lower but cotton continued to rise buoyantly and the stock market in the course continued downward through the morning.

Loss by the banks this far in the week of $3,600,000 and the all around firmness of money operated in favor of short selling. Bonds were easy.

The market closed strong. Prices reached their highest level and the principal shares sold above yesterday's close after the crop figures were published. These were about as expected for corn butabove estimate for wheat. Union Pacific made the best response to the higher conditions of wheat, touching 161.

True Thrift.

A certain millionaire, who owes his fortune to his thrift and economy, tells this story of a bookkeeper to illustrate the way in which those qualities work to the advantage of their possessor:

"I once made up my mind," said the bookkeeper, "that I would become the owner of a gold watch. I saved up the money for it in this way: When I felt like eating a 50-cent luncheon I ate a 25-cent one instead and put the other quarter aside for my watch fund. You will hardly believe it, but in less than six months I had saved money enough to purchase the watch."

"But you don't seem to have bought it," objected his friend.

"Well, no. When I found how easily I could get along without the 50 cent luncheons I concluded I could get along without the gold watch and the watch fund is growing into a house-and-lot fund now."—Youth's Companion.

Surgery to Prevent Murder.

Dr. Echols Ardman, criminologist, has come to the conclusion that the form of insanity that causes murder is a small bone pressing against part of the brain and that a small operation, removing the bone that is pressing and inserting a thin silver plate, will turn the murderer into a kind hearted person.

The trouble, Dr. Ardman confesses, that is hardest to overcome is to find the man with criminal tendencies and perform the operation before and not after the crime. The murderer usually is harmless in appearance and seems normal before committing a crime, and there is no way to tell if he is suffering from this form of insanity.

HOT SPRINGS LOSS $2,500,000.

Hot Springs, Ark., Sept. 9.—According to a statement made public here today by J. S. Speed, manager of the Arkansas actuarial bureau, the property loss in the recent great fire was $2,250,000 with the insurance loss placed at $1,500,000. Thirty-two and one-half blocks were burned including 518 buildings. Of these 83 were brick, twelve brick veneered and 423 frame.

The report places the blame for the rapid spread of the flames on poor building construction, inefficient water system, poor fighting equipment as compared with standard recommendations and treacherous winds.

MIGHT MAKE AN EXCHANGE.

London, Sept. 9.—"Will Mrs. Parkhurst resist the allurements of corn, clam broth and succotash and, if so, how will the government of the land of freedom treat her?" asks the Pall Mall Gazette, commenting approvingly today on a report that the American authorities "very wisely have decided to arrest the militant suffragette leader on her arrival in New York in October. The newspaper suggests that the United States government might propose to exchange Mrs. Parkhurst for Harry Thaw.

ENDOWS DENTAL COLLEGE.

New York, Sept. 9.—Watson D. Woodward, a wealthy dentist, who died here recently, left an endowment for the dental school of Tulane university at New Orleans that eventually will reach $83,000. In addition Dr. Woodward gave Tulane, immediately available, a fund for the establishment of nine prizes of $50 each, and for the aid of poor students in the dental course. The will was filed for probate today.

Merrill, of Pittston, Me., claims the tallest geranium in the country, with a specimen which has attained a height of fifty-one inches. Today he came forward to dispute the claims of Miss Merrill. He exhibits one geranium seventy-six inches in height and another that has attained the proud eminence of eighty-four inches. Neither is of the climbing variety.

Kellogg, was unexpectedly summoned to the president's summer home yesterday, and left for Cornish, N. H., at once. No further explanation as to her sudden departure was made. Mr. and Mrs. Kellogg will visit Miss Wilson in Cornish on their honeymoon trip. The bride received a silver tea set as a wedding gift from Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Here's good news at last for men and women whose hair is falling, who are growing bald and gray, whose scalps are covered with dandruff that nothing seems to keep away and whose heads itch like mad.

Good news even for those who imagine themselves hopelessly and incurably bald or who suffer from hair or scalp trouble of any kind.

We have secured the sole American rights for the great English discovery, Crystolis, the new hair remedy that in Europe has been called the most wonderful discovery of the century, having been awarded Gold Medals at the big Paris and Brussels Expositions.

Already, since securing the American rights hundreds of men and women have written us to tell of phenomenal results obtained by its use. People who have been bald for years tell how they now glory in their beautiful hair. Others who have had dandruff all their lives say they have now a clean, healthy scalp and that hair stopped falling after a few applications of this wonderful new treatment.

HUSBAND OR SCHOOL?—WHICH; SHE DECIDED ON HUSBAND

MRS. HENRY W. SWAFFORD.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 9.—A husband or another year in a fashionable finishing school in the east?

This choice was put flatly before Miss Lillian Stanton, a Los Angeles girl, when she arrived here a few days ago on her way to the National seminary, Washington, D. C.

Miss Stanton did not take long to decide. She informed her mother, who was with her, that marriage was a coeducational school, a finishing school and a post graduate school all in one, and besides, Henry wouldn't wait.

The next night she was married to Henry W. Swafford, an Oakland real estate dealer. His bride is the daughter of the late E. J. Stanton, wealthy lumberman.

MEDALS FOR THE PRIZE WINNERS

Blue Ribbon Infants in Big Fair Baby Show to Get Trophies.

SOME NEW DETAILS

The handsome bronze medals and certificates of award to be presented the winning entrants in the Better Baby contest at the fair opening one week from today, Tuesday, September 16, were received at the Fair company's office this morning. The medals are rich heavy affairs designed by Laura Gaudin, one of America's foremost sculptors. She is the same young woman that designed the Frawley medal when Cardinal Frawley was elevated to his exalted station in the Catholic church. The name of the winning baby will be engraved on the medal.

The Better Baby contest is arousing a keen interest among mothers and already over 100 youngsters have been entered in the contest the rules of which are simple. The children will be divided into class according to ages. On Tuesday all children from six months to eighteen months will be examined and scored, on Wednesday those from eighteen months to three years, and on Thursday those from three to four years and on Friday all youngsters from four to five years. The contest will be closed Friday evening and the prize winners for the entire week will be announced Saturday, while the winners for each class will be announced the day after the judgment in that class. No children five years of age will be accepted in the competition.

It is necessary to register the children to be entered and Dr. DeVilbiss, who has charge of the contest, will be at the Fair office each day from 1 until 5 o'clock and will give any information desired. All the parents need do is give the name of the child, its age, sex and the address of its parents. An entry number will be given or will be sent if the applicant cannot come for it.

Motorcycles Week From Today.

A motorcycle meet that will eclipse the best efforts of the Fort Wayne Motorcycle club for pure interest and hair raising novelty, is something San Z. Davis has booked for the opening day next Tuesday. A five mile race and a ten mile race the first run two-in-three heats and the second three-in-five heats will be the feature events with Don Klark, Baker, Goudy, Creviston, Taylor and several others entering time trials for the track record for a mile. The man that makes the best time in this event will be matched with the crack Kentucky thoroughbreds that Hoagland Bros. claim can cut a half mile hitched to a chariot within an eyelash of fifty seconds. If they can turn that kind of a trick they'll run away from a motorcycle traveling the mile in fifty-three or fifty-four.

BEEF SUPPLY IS GOOD SAYS TEXAN

Rancher Says Improved Methods Will Overcome Land Shortage.

TELLS OF CHANGES

Kansas City, Sept. 9.—Frank Hastings, manager of the S. M. S. ranch, Stamford, Texas, where 30,000 head of cattle are now held, brings the encouraging word to beef consumers that the cattle shortage as it exists in the United States now will be overcome in the next few years. He says Texas, the natural cattle breeding country of the world, will be a prominent factor in the reconstruction.

Mr. Hastings was at the Kansas City stock yards, where he was talking cattle affairs with Missouri, Illinois and Kansas cattlemen. He said:

"In the eleven years I have managed the S. M. S. cattle ranches conditions were never more promising in Texas than at the present time. In the last decade there has been a wonderful change, but that change is for the better. Cattle have been graded up, modern methods have been adopted and Texas now is capable of doubling its cattle output."

A New Factor in Texas.

The "vest pocket" ranchman, a term which Mr. Hastings says, is applied to the small outfits to distinguish them from the big ones, is going to cut an important figure in increased output.

The "vest pocket" ranchman, he says, is getting one to five sections of ground On that he will be able to carry 100 to 125 head of cattle to the section, whereas formerly only about forty head were held. His method will be to raise forage crops, use silos and fatten cattle.

The Texas Market Fair Now.

"At present prices for cattle in Texas are as high as elsewhere," Mr. Hastings said. "We will contribute few cattle to fall markets, and all a rancher has to do to find a home sale is to indicate his willingness to dispose of his cattle. This year breeding cows sold at $50 to $70 head; yearling bred heifers are bringing $50 a head; our calves six months old will bring $25 or $30 for fall delivery, and some calves, the 'Box T' brand, of Higgins, Texas, are said to have sold at high as $40 a head.

"Such prices, of course, indicate acute shortage, but the prospect for increased production lies in the fact that the entire heifer supply is being held, and in time will contribute to a surplus. Nearly 100,000 cows have been imported from Old Mexico this year in the face of prospective tariff revision, the duty being $3.50 a head. Most of them were taken to northwest states, principally Montana.

A Bigger Supply in Sight.

"The demand for beef is such that increased production is necessary, and while prices will never be low again, the acute shortage now existing shows that it carries the elements of increased production."

Part of the old "Spun" ranch of 438,000 acres is being sold in section lots and marks the beginning of the "vest pocket" rancher in that part of the state.
